Item 1. Security and Issuer.

This Schedule 13D (the "Schedule 13D") is being filed with respect to the shares of common stock (the "Shares") of Rosetta Stone, Inc. a Delaware corporation (the "Company" or "RST").

Item 2. Identity and Background.

This Schedule 13D is being filed by the following three limited partnerships (the "D3 Family Funds"), the following two corporations which are the sole general partners of the D3 Family Fund(s) indicated below and the following individual who is the President of each of the two general partners (collectively, the "Reporting Persons" or "D3").

(a) The Reporting Persons are: The D3 Family Fund, L.P., a Washington limited partnership; The DIII Offshore Fund, L.P., a Bahamas limited partnership; The D3 Family Bulldog Fund, L.P. a Washington limited partnership; Nierenberg Investment Management Company, Inc., a Washington corporation ("NIMCO") which is the sole general partner of those D3 Family Funds organized under the law of the State of Washington; Nierenberg Investment Management Offshore, Inc., which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of NIMCO and is the sole general partner of the D3 Family Fund organized under the law of The Bahamas; and David Nierenberg, a United States citizen, who is the President of each of the two general partners.

(b) The business address of each of the Reporting Persons is 19605 N.E. 8th Street, Camas, Washington 98607.

(c) The D3 Family Funds are private investment partnerships, the principal business of which is investing in the equities of public micro-cap issuers. The principal business of the corporate Reporting Persons is to serve as the general partner of the applicable D3 Family Fund(s). Mr. Nierenberg's principal occupation is President of each of the two corporate Reporting Persons.

(d, e) During the past five years, no Reporting Person has been convicted in a criminal proceeding, or been a party to a civil proceeding, required to be disclosed pursuant to Items 2(d) or (e) of Schedule 13D.

(f) The citizenship of each of the Reporting Persons is set forth in paragraph (a) of this Item 2.

Item 3. Source and Amount of Funds or Other Consideration.

The total amount of funds used by the Reporting Persons to make all purchases of Shares beneficially owned by the Reporting Persons, as reported in Item 5(a,b) was $18,043,460. The source of funds for purchases of Shares by each of the Reporting Persons is the working capital of the applicable D3 Family Fund (which may, at any given time, include margin loans made by brokerage firms in the ordinary course of business).

Item 4. Purpose of Transaction

The Reporting Persons purchased the Shares reported herein based on the Reporting Persons' belief that the Shares, when purchased, were undervalued and represented an attractive investment opportunity. Depending upon overall market conditions, other investment opportunities available to the Reporting Persons, and the availability of Shares at prices that would make the purchase or sale of Shares desirable, the Reporting Persons may endeavor to increase or decrease their position in the Issuer through, among other things, the purchase or sale of Shares on the open market or in private transactions or otherwise, on such terms and at such times as the Reporting Persons may deem advisable.

Today D3 is changing its filing status from 13G to 13D because we have been in frequent contact with RST management, and are now advocating actions which we believe could help tighten the company's strategic focus and substantially improve its free cash flow. Recently our discussions with management have evolved from general to specific.

RST management has made several bold moves which D3 fully supports:

--closure of the kiosk distribution channel

--withdrawal from money-losing Japanese and Korean operations

--injecting new management and fresh ideas into RST's product development group

--reducing "low calorie" consumer marketing expenditures

--buying four companies which have broadened RST's software-as-a-service (SAAS) enterprise and education segment (E&E) offerings, brought RST cloud technology infrastructure, and extended the consumer business into the adjacent brain fitness mobile app space.

These accomplishments notwithstanding, D3 believes that RST shareholders want to see material improvement in the organic top line growth rate of RST's SAAS business and in the entire company's free cash flow. Investor urgency about this is increasing because recently:

--RST has missed guidance and street expectations in two of the past three quarters

--RST has reduced previous guidance for long term revenue and earnings

--Cash expended on the four acquisitions has not been sufficiently replenished by operating cash flow and/or divestitures, which has reduced the company's net cash per share from a peak of $6.80 to $2.65.

We at D3 are very strong believers in the value of analytically determining the sharpest possible strategic focus for a company and then executing that focused strategy. We see four generic benefits flowing from tight focus: 1) better execution of strategy, 2) better allocation of scarce resources, such as cash and executive and board time, 3) better board oversight, with fewer moving parts to watch, and 4) better investor understanding of the company's strategy, prospects, and performance. The best proof of what a CEO with a maniacal focus can accomplish is what Steve Jobs did at Apple.

We do not think that the focus at RST is tight enough. We believe, instead, that the company is undertaking too many initiatives simultaneously. In the most recent quarterly conference call, for example, one analyst asked: "[T]here is a little bit of information overload here, so I was hoping you can...prioritize and recap the top three initiatives that you feel are going to have the biggest impact...turning around the business."

We have shared the following concerns with RST's management and board:

--We fear that RST's "initiative overload" may be causing sub-optimal execution and impairing free cash flow. We find it difficult to believe, for example, that all of the many product, pricing, distribution, and channel initiatives being pursued in RST's North American consumer (NAC) business are equally worthy. We urge management to identify the single most powerful thing it can do to maximize NAC free cash flow, so that RST could then devote the vast bulk of its attention to identifying and driving the one or two most important things which could accelerate the growth of and boost the profitability of RST's fast-growing SAAS E&E business.

--Our experience has taught us that far too often companies spend desperately and indiscriminately to reignite growth in a legacy business which has stopped growing—at the risk of impairing their profitability, balance sheets, and their ability to focus on growing other more promising businesses. Our hope for RST is that, with a much tighter focus on the valuable assets it owns today, the company could double EBITDA in 2015 compared with current 2014 guidance, accelerate the growth of its SAAS E&E business to a rate materially faster than it has guided, and rebuild cash per share back towards $5. We urge RST not to make any further acquisitions until it first digests what it has swallowed and focuses the company's strategy much more tightly.

--RST also needs to communicate its focused strategy in a much simpler and more compelling manner to the investment community.

--The composition of RST's board should evolve into a "post-venture" board which possesses relevant digital marketing expertise and customer/end-user domain experience consistent with RST's tightened strategic focus. Currently we believe that the board is too small. Also, we fear that its composition more reflects where the company comes from than where it is going. We at D3 have suggested a number of director candidates for the board's consideration.

We suspect that many of our substantive views about the company are shared by other investors.

RST's current share price reflects investor concern that the company is a wasting asset. We believe, however, that the company, focused and executing well in the right direction, has enormous potential. We believe that focused strategy, execution, and messaging could significantly increase the company's market value in a relatively short period of time, and that more appreciation could follow. We know that management has heard D3's message and we urge them to move quickly and decisively to complete RST's turnaround.

No Reporting Person has any present plan or proposal which would relate to or result in any of the matters set forth in subparagraphs (a) - (j) of Item 4 of Schedule 13D except as set forth herein or such as would occur upon completion of any of the actions discussed herein. The Reporting Persons intend to review their investment in the Issuer on a periodic basis and may from time to time engage in discussions with management and the Board of Directors of the Issuer (the "Board") concerning, among other things, the business, operations and future plans of the Issuer. Depending on various factors including, without limitation, the Issuer's financial position and investment strategy, the price levels of the Shares of the Issuer, conditions in the securities markets and general economic and industry conditions, the Reporting Persons may in the future take such actions with respect to their investment in the Issuer as they deem appropriate including, without limitation, making proposals concerning changes to the capitalization, ownership structure, Board composition or operations of the Issuer, nominating directors, purchasing additional Shares, selling some or all of their Shares, or changing their intention with respect to any and all matters referred to in this Item 4.
