BUTLER BOARD REITERATES

RECOMMENDATION OF BLUESCOPE MERGER

KANSAS CITY, MO, April 26, 2004 The Board of Directors of Butler Manufacturing Company ("Butler") remains dismayed that Robertson-Ceco Corporation ("RCC") and its parent, The HEICO Companies, L.L.C., continue to communicate through press releases and have done nothing to address the issues clearly described in the Board's letter to Mr. Heisley dated April 23, 2004. Other than issuing additional press releases, RCC has made no attempts to improve the certainty of its highly contingent and conditional offer or provide additional information to Butler's Board.

John Holland, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Butler, stated, "We did not receive any material from RCC over the weekend or today. RCC made no attempts to solidify or clarify its proposal. As such, the Board must continue its recommendation of the merger with BlueScope Steel Limited."

In its most recent press release, RCC states that it will maintain its proposal to acquire Butler if stockholders do not approve the merger with BlueScope Steel Limited ("BlueScope"). In considering RCC's statements, Butler stockholders should be aware that RCC has made no legally binding commitment whatsoever to conclude the acquisition of Butler nor has RCC provided the Board with sufficient evidence that it has committed, unconditional financing to fund the acquisition.

The Board continues to recommend that Butler stockholders vote FOR the approval and adoption of the BlueScope merger.

Additionally, Institutional Shareholder Services, one of the nation's leading independent proxy voting advisors, continues to advise its clients to vote FOR the merger with BlueScope.

Butler stockholders are scheduled to meet on Tuesday, April 27, to vote on the proposed BlueScope merger. Stockholders of record as of March 19 are eligible to vote at the meeting.

Butler Manufacturing Company is the world's leading producer of pre-engineered building systems, a leading supplier of architectural aluminum systems and components, and provides construction and real estate services for the nonresidential construction market.

BlueScope Steel, headquartered in Melbourne, Australia, is the largest steel producer in Australia and New Zealand. BlueScope Steel manufactures steel slab, hot and cold rolled coil,
