SIMMONS FIRST EXPANDS INTO NORTHEAST ARKANSAS

Pine Bluff, Arkansas J. Thomas May, chairman, president and chief executive officer of Simmons First National Corporation (SFNC) and Mac McClanahan, president and chief executive officer of Cross County Bank, announce an agreement in principle under the terms of which Cross County Bank (CCB) will sell its Weiner, Arkansas location to Simmons First Bank of Jonesboro, a subsidiary of SFNC. The acquisition will involve approximately $6 million in total deposits and the fixed assets used in the branch operation. No loans are involved in the transaction.

Commenting on the proposed sale, May stated, "We are excited about having this opportunity for growth in Northeast Arkansas and to continue expanding the Simmons First philosophy of community banking throughout the state. This location will allow us to fill a geographical void in our community banking network and to expand our service area into this fine community. CCB's management and associates have done an outstanding job in developing this market. In addition, Simmons First Bank of Jonesboro has recently announced the hiring of Mike Gillis and Phil Hesse, who are now a part of the Simmons First team and will be located in Weiner, Arkansas.

McClanahan said, "We are truly grateful for the support we have received from the Weiner area. However, the sale of the Weiner location will allow us to concentrate our efforts towards future growth and expansion in other areas. We will provide the best products and services to our customers at the Wynne, Cherry Valley and Hickory Ridge locations while continuing to service our lending customers from the Weiner area through those locations. We are pleased that this transaction will assist
