Full details of the Plan are provided in the Remuneration Committee Report contained in the Company's 2004 Report & Accounts.

In line with the Company's shareholder approved Remuneration Committee Policy to encourage Executives to acquire shares and build up significant shareholdings in the Company, the Company has provided a one-off opportunity set out below to Frank Condella and Dr Ken Cunningham (the Chairman, Dr Argeris (Jerry) Karabelas, has not been provided with any such opportunity).

Both Frank Condella and Dr Ken Cunningham will be offered the following one-off opportunity on joining the Company:

the ability to purchase a maximum of 1/3rd of salary in ordinary Company shares out of their own personal resources. Pursuant to this offer Frank Condella has already purchased 350,000 ordinary shares of the Company at an average price of 40.8929 pence on 7 February 2006; the Company will provide a maximum of 2 matching shares for every share purchased:-

50% of these matching shares will be released to the relevant Executive on the first anniversary of their grant i.e. a 1:1 match if: he retains the shares he purchased for this period; and remains employed by the Company;

the balance of these matching shares will be released to the relevant Executive on the second anniversary of their grant i.e. a 2:1 match if: he retains the shares he purchased for this period; and remains employed by the Company.

The Remuneration Committee took the following factors in to account in determining this arrangement:

a desire to encourage the new Executives to build up a meaningful interest in the shares of the Company in order to assist them in satisfying the Company's shareholding requirement;

it is a standard element of compensation packages offered by the Company's US competitors to provide significant sign-on grants to new executives of options and restricted shares awards which are not subject to any co-investment requirement or corporate performance conditions. This is not considered best practice in the UK. Therefore the Remuneration Committee was required to offer some incentive in order to be competitive taking into account the employment potential for both candidates in the US;

the Remuneration Committee felt that the requirement to make a meaningful investment at their own cost in the Company's shares demonstrated an immediate commitment by the Executives to the Company and is consistent with the objective of aligning Executives' and shareholders' interests; and comparatively the maximum value of the one-off award of matching shares of 66% of salary is modest.
