On May 11, 2009, Agrium posted updated frequently asked questions concerning the proposed transaction on its website. The complete copy of frequently asked questions is as follows:

* * *

1. Why did Agrium launch an exchange offer?

CF management and advisors have repeatedly rebuffed our efforts to meet including calls placed over the last few days leaving us no choice but to take our increased offer directly to CF stockholders. It is time for CF stockholders to tell the CF board to come to the table.

2. Why did you increase your offer?

We re determined to get this deal done and this substantial increase reflects our resolve.

3. Why should I tender now?

Tendering into our offer is a way to send a message to the CF board and management team that CF stockholders believe our offer is a better alternative than acquiring Terra. We believe CF's restructuring of its offer for Terra to circumvent a vote highlights a disregard for the rights of its stockholders and a belief on the part of CF's management and board that they would lose such a vote. Tendering into Agrium's offer provides CF stockholders the opportunity to have their voice heard on the future of their company.

4. What are the terms of the amended exchange offer?

Edgar Filing: CF Industries Holdings, Inc. - Form 425

Based on Agrium's closing stock price on May 8, 2009, the increased offer has a current value of $85.20 per CF share. Under the revised terms, CF stockholders will now receive $40.00 in cash, an increase of $5.00, or 14.3%, in the cash consideration, as well as one common share of Agrium for each CF share. The increased offer represents a premium of 53% to CF's closing price on February 24, 2009, the day before Agrium announced its initial proposal, and 68% to the previous 30-day volume weighted average price.

5. What are the conditions of the exchange offer?

The proposal is not subject to a financing condition. Agrium has sufficient cash resources and committed financing underwritten by Royal Bank of Canada and The Bank of Nova Scotia to fund the cash portion of the offer. The offer is subject to certain conditions described in the offer to exchange on file with SEC.

6. What happens if the exchange offer is amended after I've tendered my shares?

Regardless of when you tender your shares, you would receive any increase in price.

7. When does the exchange offer expire?

We have extended the expiration date of the exchange offer until 12:00 midnight, New York City time, June 15, 2009.

8. Who is eligible to participate in the exchange offer?

All CF stockholders who hold shares on or have tendered their shares prior to the expiration date are eligible to participate.

9. Why does Agrium want to acquire CF?

Agrium believes that a combination of these two complementary companies is strategically compelling and a superb opportunity to create value for both Agrium and CF stockholders. With approximately $150 million in annual operating synergies, we expect the combination to provide many benefits to the customers, suppliers, and employees of both Agrium and CF, as well as in the communities in which both companies operate.

10. What synergies does Agrium expect to achieve from the acquisition of CF Industries?

Agrium expects the proposed transaction to achieve substantial operating synergies of approximately $150 million annually, creating long-term value for shareholders of both companies as part of the combined organization. We anticipate that the transaction will be accretive to both earnings per share and cash flow in 2010 and significantly accretive on both measures in subsequent years. These synergy targets are tangible and highly achievable. We've done a very thorough analysis, we know where we need to go and we are confident that we can get there.

11. Will Agrium have the financial capability to expand retail and other areas of its business going forward?

We currently have a strong balance sheet and will continue to have one following a transaction with CF. Together, the companies would form the fourth largest publicly traded crop input provider with significant trading liquidity and a solid cash flow base. We would continue to have access to the capital and other markets and a transaction with CF would not limit our ability to acquire retail assets in the future.

12. What would a combination mean for employees of Agrium and CF?

This transaction presents growth opportunities for employees of both companies as part of a stronger, larger and more diverse global organization.

13. What would a combination mean for customers of Agrium and CF?

We believe customers will benefit from the combined companies' product offerings, capabilities and enhanced services. We expect that the combination of the two companies would benefit our customers through economies of scale that would improve efficiency of distribution and would ensure our customers receive the products they want, when they want them, at the locations they desire. The new combined company would also be able to offer a full line of nitrogen, phosphate and potash products and distribution services in more markets.

14. Do you anticipate any antitrust issues?

We expect regulatory reviews but don't anticipate any material impediment to closing.
