Item 8.01 Other Events.

On June 9, 2006, SCM Microsystems GmbH, a wholly owned subsidiary of SCM Microsystems Inc. (the Company), received a payment from Aston France S.A.S. (Aston) of approximately 4.0 million, or approximately $5.0 million based on an exchange rate of 0.78382, related to a refund for previously paid value added taxes.

In April 2005, the Company entered into an agreement with Aston, whereby Aston agreed to (i) seek a refund from the French government for approximately $4.7 million in value added taxes (the VAT Refund) that the Company paid to the French government with respect to products that Aston purchased from the Company prior to November 2002 and (ii) remit the refunded amount to the Company. On October 13, 2005, the French government refunded the VAT Refund to Aston, but Aston did not remit such amount to the Company. Shortly thereafter, Aston filed a claim against the Company alleging participation by the Company in the counterfeiting of Aston's conditional access modules (the Aston Claim).

In its complaint filed in France, Aston claims damages in the amount of approximately 54.0 million. On February 2, 2006, the Company filed a counterclaim against Aston alleging damages in the amount of $14 million resulting from Aston's fraudulent misrepresentation and breach of contract in connection with the November 2002 settlement agreement between Aston and the Company whereby the Company agreed to cancel binding orders made by Aston and Aston agreed to return unsold inventory to the Company (the Counterclaim).

In November 2005, Aston obtained a preliminary injunction in France to stay the Company's claim for recovery of the VAT Refund and on February 21, 2006, the court that issued the injunction revised its order such that only approximately $1.2 million of the VAT Refund was covered by the injunction. On June 9, 2006, the court further amended the order and lifted the injunction on the remaining amount of the VAT Refund and Aston remitted the refund to the Company. The difference in value between the VAT Refund received by Aston and the amount paid to the Company is due to currency fluctuation. There has been no ruling yet regarding the Aston Claim the Company's Counterclaim. There is no assurance that the Company will be successful in defending itself against the Aston Claim or prosecuting its Counterclaim against Aston, in each case, in a timely manner, in full or at all.
