I. Commodity Price Risk Management

For the quarter and year to date ended September 30, 2009, we anticipate pre-tax losses on commodity derivative instruments of $28 million and $95 million, respectively, from our crude oil and natural gas derivative instruments as presented below.

	Three Months Ended September 30,
	2009
	Crude Oil	Natural C	Gas Total
		(in millio	ons)

Settlement of deferred losses previously recorded in AOCL	$167 45	Natural C (in millio $201	Gas Total (ms) $368 45	)

Realized mark-to-market (MTM) gains associated with derivative instruments that hedge current production will be recognized in both net income and adjusted net income reported in our quarterly news release of earnings. Unrealized MTM losses will be recognized in net income, but will be excluded in determining adjusted net income to better match derivative gains and losses with the period when the underlying hedged production occurs.

Cash receipts related to realized MTM gains were partially offset by net deferred losses previously recorded in Accumulated Other Comprehensive Loss (AOCL) associated with instruments that settled during the periods presented above. Upon settlement, these deferred losses were reclassified from AOCL to net income as decreases to crude oil revenues, and impact reported realized commodity prices. Unrealized derivative losses and gains that occurred through December 31, 2007 under our previous cash flow hedge accounting method were deferred in AOCL as of that date. Crude oil and natural gas pre-tax net deferred losses of $31 million and $1 million, respectively, remain in AOCL as of September 30, 2009. These losses are expected to be recognized as decreases to revenue and will impact reported realized commodity prices during the remainder of 2009 and 2010 as the associated derivative instruments settle. All other commodity derivative gains or losses subsequent to our voluntary discontinuation of cash flow hedge accounting are recognized as Gain or Loss on Commodity Derivative Instruments, and do not impact reported realized commodity prices.

From time to time, we may consider other items in determining adjusted net income. Adjusted net income should not be considered a substitute for net income as reported in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP). Adjusted net income is provided for comparison to earnings forecasts prepared by analysts and other third parties. Our management believes, and certain investors may find, that adjusted net income is beneficial in evaluating our financial performance.

Forward-looking statements are typically identified by use of terms such as "may," "will," "expect," "anticipate," "estimate" and similar words, although some forward-looking statements may be expressed differently. These forward-looking statements are made based upon our current plans, expectations, estimates, assumptions and beliefs concerning future events impacting us and therefore involve a number of risks and uncertainties. Important factors that could cause the actual results to differ materially from those projected include, without limitation:

- the timing and extent of changes in commodity prices for natural gas, crude oil and related products, foreign currency exchange rates, interest rates and financial market conditions;
  - the extent and effect of any hedging activities engaged in by us;
  - our liquidity and ability to finance our exploration and development activities;
  - changes in plans with respect to exploration or development projects or capital expenditures;
    - the supply and demand for oil, natural gas and other products or services;
      - the presence or recoverability of estimated reserves;
        - our ability to replace reserves;
          - exploration and development risks;
            - drilling and operating risks;
              - environmental risks;
        - government regulation or other action; and
      - the ability of management to execute its plans to meet its goals.

We caution that forward-looking statements are not guarantees and that actual results could differ materially from those expressed or implied in the forward-looking statements. You should consider carefully the statements under Item 1A. Risk Factors included in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2008, and our Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q for the quarters ended March 31, 2009, and June 30, 2009, which describe factors that could cause our actual results to differ from those set forth in the forward-looking statements.
