SHAREHOLDER LETTER

YOUR FUND'S GOAL: TEMPLETON EMERGING MARKETS FUND SEEKS LONG-TERM CAPITAL APPRECIATION BY INVESTING, UNDER NORMAL MARKET CONDITIONS, AT LEAST 80% OF ITS NET ASSETS IN EMERGING COUNTRY EQUITY SECURITIES.

Dear Shareholder:

This annual report for Templeton Emerging Markets Fund covers the fiscal year ended August 31, 2002. During the year under review, Asian economies such as South Korea and China continued to record higher growth rates than most other countries, which appeared to attract investors. China's commitment toward liberalizing its economy contributed to a 22% jump in foreign direct investment versus a year earlier, to US$29.5 billion in the first seven months of 2002.(1) We believe China's accession into the World Trade Organization (WTO) and its robust economy should continue to attract investment. As more and more developed market companies strived to cut costs, Taiwanese companies benefited from the outsourcing trend as well as from developments in China where an increasing number of Taiwanese companies moved their production bases. Faster-than-expected economic growth and other favorable macroeconomic indicators helped make South Korea an attractive investment location. South Korea's central bank also increased its gross domestic product growth forecast to an annualized 6.5%, mainly due to an expected increase in exports and investment.(1) Expressing confidence in South Korea's recovery and economic policies, Moody's Investors Service raised the country's sovereign rating two notches to A3.(2)

Latin American countries struggled during the past 12 months. In Argentina, debt defaults, record-high unemployment and a devalued currency contributed to the country's fourth consecutive year of recession. A change of government and support from the International Monetary Fund (IMF) in the form of payment delays began to bear some fruit. A study undertaken by the Bank of the Province of Buenos Aires reported that banks actually experienced net deposits of US$58.3 million in the three-week period between July 14 and August 6, after months of withdrawals. Elsewhere in the region, contagion from Argentina, political uncertainty as a result of upcoming presidential elections in October 2002 and a currency devaluation led to significant volatility in Brazil's financial markets. While investor sentiment toward Latin America as a region was negative during the period, economic growth improved to some extent and inflation was relatively low.

Aimed at improving minority shareholder rights protection, Mexico revealed a new takeover code. The new rules are expected to give all shareholders equal rights compared with the past when rules worked in favor of majority shareholders. Further boosting investor confidence, international ratings agency Standard & Poor's upgraded the country's sovereign debt to investment grade. We believe that over the long term, Mexico's proximity to the U.S. and the North American Free Trade Agreement could enable it to benefit from any U.S.

economic recovery, and in our opinion Mexico's strengthening economy could continue to attract investors wishing to maintain exposure to the emerging markets asset class.

Elsewhere, we believe continued support in the form of additional loans from the IMF and the World Bank could allow Turkey to work toward the implementation of key reforms. In our opinion, Turkey's increasing global importance could provide it with the much-needed support to pull itself out of an economic crisis. As a result of resignations from Turkey's ruling government, coalition leaders agreed to hold early elections in November 2002. We believe the election of a new government could help reduce some of the political uncertainty that plagued the country in the recent past.

In South Africa, the government's inquiry into the rapid devaluation of the rand in the last quarter of 2001 concluded with no significant explanations. Higher commodity prices and some weakness in the U.S. dollar allowed the currency to rebound from its low earlier this year. According to recent purchasing parity studies, the rand was still significantly undervalued. After a 12-month delay, South Africa invited foreign investors to bid for 51% of a second fixed-line telephone license. Moreover, the government sold its 20% stake in MCell for US$475 million. These acts continued to signal the nation's commitment to privatization.

Within this environment, the Morgan Stanley Capital International (MSCI) Emerging Markets Free Index returned 2.47% in U.S. dollar terms for the year ended August 31, 2002.(3) During the same time, Templeton Emerging Markets Fund posted a -2.82% cumulative total return in market-price terms and +0.29% return in net asset value terms, as shown in the Performance Summary on page 8. We attribute the Fund's performance largely to our fundamental investment approach, focusing on companies and not on top-down analyses of economies or sectors.

During the 12-month reporting period, we increased our exposure to Asia, particularly South Korea and Taiwan. In South Korea, we increased the Fund's exposure to the telecommunications and utilities sectors by purchasing shares in SK Telecom because we considered the company's valuations attractive, and added KT Corp. due, in part, to its near monopoly position and strong cash flows. We also increased our holdings in Korea Electric Power Corp. as we believe privatization plans could unlock value and create investor interest. We also made two new purchases in the South Korean banking and finance sectors, including Kookmin Credit Card and Cho Hung Bank, due largely to their appealing valuations and strong market positions. In Taiwan, we increased our positions in existing holdings such as Yageo Corp. and Ritek Corp. due largely to their strong market positions and future growth potential. We also saw value in Taiwan's banking and finance sectors and added International Commercial Bank of China and Sinopac Holdings to the portfolio.

The Fund's exposure to India also increased during the period. Key purchases included ITC Ltd. and Satyam Computers Ltd. We favor ITC largely due to its near-monopoly position and strong brand names. In our view, Satyam's attractiveness stems from its healthy relationships with large multinational organizations, as well as its competitive advantage and favorable software industry regulations. We increased our holdings in China Red Chip (Hong Kong-registered firms with significant exposure to China) companies, as we believe that many of these companies are well-positioned to benefit from China's accession into the WTO, strong domestic growth, low-cost manufacturing ability and cheap resources.

Our exit from markets such as Estonia, Finland, Slovak Republic, Colombia and Chile allowed us to increase our exposure to Asia. As of period-end, 56.1% of the Fund's total net assets were in Asia compared with 35.2% a year earlier. The Fund's exposure to Mexico fell as we locked in profits from the strong market performance of Cemex, the world's third-largest cement company. We also took profits on selective shares in Thailand. In addition, we reduced our exposure to the Czech Republic through the sale of CEZ due to an anticipated deterioration of margins that might result from the country's liberalization of the electricity market. Exposure to Poland also fell with the sale of Telekomunikacja Polska due, in part, to our concerns over debt financing.

During the year under review, we increased our investment in selective holdings in South Africa. These investments included Anglo American, due to its dominant market position, sound balance sheet and positive cash flows, and Old Mutual because of its international exposure and our assessment of its excellent management team and solid track record. Following market corrections resulting from political instability and currency devaluation, we were able to invest in Brazil at what we considered attractive valuations.

As of August 31, 2002, our top three sectors were banks, diversified financials and integrated oil and gas. With regard to the top 10 holdings, South Korea's Korea Electric Power Corp., Turkey's Akbank, Thailand's Siam Cement, Hong Kong's Citic Pacific and Russia's Lukoil replaced Mexico's Cemex and Telmex, South Africa's Remgro and Barloworld, Hong Kong's Cheung Kong Holdings and Brazil's Banco Bradesco.

Despite the recent volatility, we are still optimistic about the potential of emerging markets over the long term because they have been driven down to very low price-to-earnings and price-to-book ratios relative to the U.S. markets. It appears that value investors may have begun to realize this. Recent allegations of accounting irregularities demonstrated that developed markets are not necessarily safer than emerging markets. As a result, investors seem to have begun reevaluating their portfolios and developing more open minds toward investing in emerging markets. Over the long term, we expect emerging markets to improve economic performances if they continue to reform and liberalize their economies.

It is important to note that investing in foreign securities involves special risks, such as adverse economic, social and political developments in the countries where the Fund invests, as well as market and currency volatility. Emerging markets securities involve heightened risks related to the same factors, in addition to those associated with their relatively small size and lesser liquidity. Investing in any emerging market means accepting a certain amount of volatility and, in some cases, the consequences of severe market corrections. For example, the MSCI Hong Kong Index has increased 337% in the past 15 years, but has suffered seven quarterly declines of more than 15% each during that time.(4) While short-term volatility can be disconcerting, declines in excess of 50% are not unusual in emerging markets.

4. Source: Standard & Poor's Micropal. Based on quarterly percentage total return change over 15 years ended 6/30/02. Market return is measured in U.S. dollars and includes reinvested dividends. The MSCI Hong Kong Index is market capitalization-weighted and measures the total returns of equity securities in Hong Kong.

Ongoing stock market volatility can dramatically change the Fund's short-term performance; current results may differ. Since markets can go down as well as up, investment return and principal value will fluctuate with market conditions, currency volatility, and the economic, social and political climates of countries where the Fund invests. Emerging markets involve heightened risks related to the same factors, in addition to those associated with their relatively small size and lesser liquidity. You may have a gain or loss when you sell your shares.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS

CHANGE TO NON-FUNDAMENTAL INVESTMENT POLICY. In May 2002, the Fund's Board of Directors approved the elimination of the Fund's non-fundamental operating policy limiting the Fund's investment in Russian securities to no more than 5% of the Fund's total assets. The Board's recent action provides the Fund's investment manager with the ability to take advantage of additional attractive investment opportunities in Russia. The Fund's goal of seeking long-term capital appreciation by investing primarily in emerging country equity securities, as well as its other investment policies, restrictions and diversification requirements, remains the same.

NAMES RULE. The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission adopted new Rule 35d-1 under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "Names Rule"), requiring a fund with a name suggesting a focus in a particular type of investment, in a particular industry, or in a particular geographic region, to invest, under normal circumstances, at least 80% of its net assets, plus the amount of any borrowings for investment purposes, in the type of investment, industry or geographic region suggested by its name.

Consistent with the Names Rule, the Fund's Board of Directors adopted a non-fundamental investment policy to invest, under normal circumstances, at least 80% of the Fund's net assets in "emerging country equity securities." In accordance with the Names Rule, the Fund has also adopted a non-fundamental policy to provide shareholders with 60 days' advance notice of any change to the foregoing 80% investment policy. The Fund's current non-fundamental investment policy is to invest at least 75% of its total assets in "emerging country equity securities."

SHARE REPURCHASE PROGRAM. On November 28, 2000, the Board of Directors of the Fund authorized management to implement an open-market share repurchase program pursuant to which the Fund may purchase, from time to time, shares of the Fund's common stock in open-market transactions, at the discretion of management. This authorization remains in effect.

TEMPLETON EMERGING MARKETS FUND, INC.
Notes to Financial Statements

1. ORGANIZATION AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Templeton Emerging Markets Fund, Inc. (the Fund) is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as a closed-end, diversified investment company. The Fund seeks long-term capital appreciation by investing mainly in emerging country equity securities. The following summarizes the Fund's significant accounting policies.

A. SECURITY VALUATION

Securities listed or traded on a recognized national exchange or NASDAQ are valued at the latest reported sales price. Over-the-counter securities and listed securities for which no sale is reported are valued within the range of the latest quoted bid and asked prices. Securities for which market quotations are not readily available are valued at fair value as determined by management in accordance with procedures established by the Board of Directors.

B. FOREIGN CURRENCY TRANSLATION

Portfolio securities and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollars based on the exchange rate of such currencies against U.S. dollars on the date of valuation. Purchases and sales of securities and income items denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollars at the exchange rate in effect on the transaction date.

The Fund does not separately report the effect of changes in foreign exchange rates from changes in market prices on securities held. Such changes are included in net realized and unrealized gain or loss from investments.

Realized foreign exchange gains or losses arise from sales of foreign currencies, currency gains or losses realized between the trade and settlement dates on securities transactions, and the difference between the recorded amounts of dividends, interest, and foreign withholding taxes and the U.S. dollar equivalent of the amounts actually received or paid. Net unrealized foreign exchange gains and losses arise from changes in foreign exchange rates on foreign denominated assets and liabilities other than investments in securities held at the end of the reporting period.

C. FOREIGN CURRENCY CONTRACTS

When the Fund purchases or sells foreign securities it may enter into foreign exchange contracts to minimize foreign exchange risk from the trade date to the settlement date of the transactions. A foreign exchange contract is an agreement between two parties to exchange different currencies at an agreed upon exchange rate on a specified date. Realized and unrealized gains and losses are included in the Statement of Operations.

The risks of these contracts include movement in the values of the foreign currencies relative to the U.S. dollar and the possible inability of the counterparties to fulfill their obligations under the contracts.

D. INCOME TAXES

No provision has been made for income taxes because the Fund's policy is to qualify as a regulated investment company under the Internal Revenue Code and to distribute all of its taxable income.

1. ORGANIZATION AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONT.)

E. SECURITY TRANSACTIONS, INVESTMENT INCOME, EXPENSES AND DISTRIBUTIONS

Security transactions are accounted for on trade date. Realized gains and losses on security transactions are determined on a specific identification basis. Certain income from foreign securities is recorded as soon as information is available to the Fund. Interest income and estimated expenses are accrued daily. Dividend income and distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date.

F. ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the amounts of income and expense during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

2. CAPITAL SHARES

On November 29, 2000, the Board of Directors of the Fund authorized management to implement an open-market share repurchase program pursuant to which the Fund may purchase, from time to time, shares of the Fund's common stock in open-market transactions, at the discretion of management.

Edgar Filing: TEMPLETON EMERGING MARKETS FUND INC - Form N-30D

At August 31, 2002, there were 30 million shares authorized ($0.01 par value). During the year ended August 31, 2002 and the year ended August 31, 2001, there were no share transactions.

3. TRANSACTIONS WITH AFFILIATES AND RELATED PARTIES

Certain officers of the Fund are also officers or directors of Templeton Asset Management Ltd. (TAML) and Franklin Templeton Services, LLC (FT Services), the Fund's investment manager and administrative manager, respectively.

The Fund pays an investment management fee to TAML of 1.25% per year of the Fund's average daily net assets. Management fees were reduced on assets invested in the Franklin Institutional Fiduciary Trust Money Market Portfolio (the Sweep Money Fund) in an amount not to exceed the management fees paid by the Sweep Money Fund. The Fund pays an administrative fee monthly to FT Services at an annual rate of 0.15% per year of the Fund's average daily net assets.

4. INCOME TAXES

At August 31, 2002, the cost of investments, net unrealized depreciation, and undistributed ordinary income for income tax purposes were as follows:

Cost of investments	$166,240,842

Unrealized appreciation	12,932,872
Unrealized depreciation	(24,585,071)

Net unrealized depreciation	$(11,652,199)
Distributable earnings - ordinary income ..	$ 2,645,717

The tax character of distributions paid during the year ended August 31, 2002, was the same for financial statements and tax purposes.

Net investment income and net realized capital gains differ for financial statement and tax purposes primarily due to differing treatments of passive foreign investment companies, wash sales and losses realized subsequent to October 31 on the sale of securities and foreign currencies.

At August 31, 2002, the Fund had deferred capital and currency losses occurring subsequent to October 31, 2001 of $6,700,971 and $325,833 respectively. For tax purposes, such losses will be reflected in the year ending August 31, 2003.

At August 31, 2002, the Fund had tax basis capital losses which may be carried over to offset future capital gains. Such losses expire as follows:

Capital loss carryovers expiring in:
2008	$ 1,056,614
2009	2,373,131
2010	30,608,800

$34,038,545

5. INVESTMENT TRANSACTIONS

Purchases and sales of securities (excluding short-term securities) for the year ended August 31, 2002 aggregated $121,314,541 and $94,805,744, respectively.

TEMPLETON EMERGING MARKETS FUND, INC.
INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT
To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of Templeton Emerging Markets Fund, Inc.

In our opinion, the accompanying statement of assets and liabilities, including the statement of investments, and the related statements of operations and of changes in net assets and the financial highlights present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Templeton Emerging Markets Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") at August 31, 2002, the results of its operations for the year then ended, the changes in its net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended and the financial highlights for each of the four years in the period then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These financial statements and financial highlights (hereafter referred to as "financial statements") are the responsibility of the Fund's management; our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits of these financial statements in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, which require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits, which included confirmation of securities at August 31, 2002 by correspondence with the custodian and brokers, provide a reasonable basis for our opinion. The financial highlights for the year ended August 31, 1998 were audited by other independent accountants whose report dated September 29, 1998 expressed an unqualified opinion on those financial statements.

Whenever the Fund declares dividends in either cash or common stock of the Fund, if the market price is equal to or exceeds net asset value at the valuation date, the participant will receive the dividends entirely in stock at a price equal to the net asset value, but not less than 95% of the then current market price of the Fund's shares. A participant has the option of submitting additional payments to Mellon Securities Trust Company (the "Plan Agent"), in any amounts of at least $100, up to a maximum of $5,000 per month, for the purchase of Fund shares for his or her account. share of trading fees) to purchases of Fund shares on the open market.

The automatic reinvestment of dividends and/or capital gains does not relieve the participant of any income tax that may be payable on dividends or distributions.

The participant may withdraw from the Plan without penalty at any time by written notice to the Plan Agent sent to Mellon Investor Services, P.O. Box 3338, South Hackensack, NJ 07606-1938. Upon withdrawal, the participant will receive, without charge, stock certificates issued in the participant's name for all full shares held by the Plan Agent; or, if the participant wishes, the Plan Agent will sell the participant's shares and send the proceeds, less a service charge of $5.00 and less trading fees.

Whenever shares are purchased on the New York Stock Exchange or otherwise on the open market, each participant will pay a pro rata portion of trading fees. Trading fees will be deducted from amounts to be invested.
