PRESS RELEASE
(unaudited data according to French accounting standards)

Revenue from core businesses (1) increases 6.2% at constant exchange rates to (euro)7.1 billion in first quarter 2003

Edgar Filing: VEOLIA ENVIRONNEMENT - Form 6-K

Cash flow from operations up nearly 10% to (euro)704 million

Net debt stable (2) at (euro)13.3 billion

EBIT (3) excluding non-core businesses of (euro)437 million relatively stable at constant exchange rates

Veolia Environnement's consolidated revenue totaled (euro)7,166 million for the first quarter of 2003 compared with (euro)7,500 million for first quarter 2002, owing to the disposals carried out in 2002.

Excluding non-core businesses, revenue amounted to (euro)7,094 million, up 1.6% at current exchange rates and 6.2% at constant exchange rates.

Revenue breaks down as follows:

VEOLIA ENVIRONNEMENT

Revenue	At March 31, 2003 (in (euro)m)	At March 31, 2002 (in (euro)m)	Variation 2003/2002	Internal growth	External growth
Core businesses	7,094	6,981	+1.6%	5.6%	0.6%
Non-core businesses sold or in the process of being sold	72	519	-86.1%
Total consolidated	7,166	7,500	-4.4%

Revenue from core businesses increased to (euro)7,094 million, up 1.6% at current exchange rates, and 6.2% at constant exchange rates. The negative impact of exchange rate fluctuations totaled (euro)320 million, of which (euro)195 million was attributable to the variation in the dollar (the average US dollar-euro rate was 1.0831 at March 31, 2003 compared with 0.87315 at March 31, 2002). The balance was due mainly to variations in Latin American currencies and the pound sterling. Internal growth for core businesses was 5.6%.

(1) Non-core businesses sold or in the process of being sold are as follows: the non-core businesses of US Filter (Filtration & Separation, Plymouth, Distribution US) as well as Bonna Sabla in France, which were sold in 2002, plus Surface Prep.

(2) Net debt is defined as follows: long-term debt + short-term debt - short-term financial receivables - long-term financial receivables - marketable securities - cash and cash equivalents.

(3) EBIT corresponds to operating income as defined by Rule 99-02 of the French Accounting Standards Board (CRC).

The portion of core business revenue generated outside France totaled (euro)3,668 million, representing 51.7% of total revenue. The decline in this percentage is explained by exchange rate fluctuations.

(1) Excluding non-core businesses sold or in the process of being sold.

The rate of internal growth can be analyzed as follows:

- o In France, revenue from water distribution and design-build activities rose 3.9%.
- o Outside France, excluding the United States, revenue increased 7.2%, mainly due to the rising impact of contracts won in Continental Europe, North Africa and Asia.
- o In the United States, revenue as expressed in dollars was stable, as the good level of activity from the Services business (which benefited from the startup of the Indianapolis contract, in particular) offset the decline in equipment sales to industrial companies.
- o Veolia Water Systems' revenue fell 24% due to the conclusion of certain contracts (Taweelah) and to the later start-up of certain contracts during the year (Acheres).

The rate of internal growth can be analyzed as follows:

- o In France, revenue increased 6.5%.
- o Outside France, 3% revenue growth was supported by business generated with municipal customers, with business to industrial customers, particularly in the United States, experiencing a slowdown in the first quarter 2003.

ENERGY SERVICES

1,460	1,313	+11.2%	12.0%	0.7%	-1.4%

Energy services recorded very buoyant growth:

- o In France, revenue rose 5.5%, driven by growth from cogeneration (8%) and the traditional heating activities.
- o Outside France, strong internal growth of 24.7% was a result of the increased impact of contracts signed in Eastern Europe (where there was growth of over 50%).

- o In France, the 5.3% revenue growth was due to the good performance from the intercity activity.
- o Outside France, the 12.6% increase was generated in the Northern and Eastern Europe regions, driven by developments in Germany, the Netherlands, Slovenia and Belgium. In the United States, revenue growth was nearly 50%.

Internal growth of 13.3% was generated by municipal services and construction.

After taking into account non-core businesses sold or in the process of being sold, consolidated EBIT amounted to (euro)436 million, compared with (euro)481 million at March 31, 2002. EBIT for core businesses totaled (euro)437 million, down 1.2% at constant exchange rates (down 4.2% at current exchange rates). This slight decline is attributable principally to the slowdown in industrial activity in the United States, and to a fall-off in the cement business in Spain, where production was lowered on a temporary basis owing to renovation work on one of the plants. Other activities, especially water distribution in and outside France and energy services, made a positive contribution to EBIT. In total, these different elements confirm the business units' good capacity to withstand the difficult economic conditions.

In line with its commitments, Veolia Environnement stabilized its net debt, which stood at (euro)13.3 billion against (euro)13.1 billion at December 31, 2002. More than the entirety of the difference is due to the reduction in receivables sold. Tight control of indebtedness is the result of a strict investment policy and of a year-on-year increase in cash flow from operations of 9.9%, rising to (euro)704 million.

OUTLOOK

The first quarter 2003 performance allows Veolia Environnement to maintain its growth target for core business revenue at between 4% and 8%.

The continued growth in cash flow from operations, the rising impact of contracts signed over the past few years and a strict investment policy should enable Veolia Environnement to achieve its objectives of well-balanced financing for the full year.
