ITEM 5. OTHER EVENTS AND REGULATION FD DISCLOSURE.

On January 2, 2004, our Board of Directors repealed the Company's existing bylaws and adopted an entire new set of bylaws ("2004 Bylaws"), replacing the previous bylaws.

The current Company bylaws are deemed by management to be so deficient and ineffective as tools for corporate governance in comparison to the 2004 Bylaws. The 2004 Bylaws, unlike the current Bylaws, provide a much more detailed description of procedures and policies needed to govern a publicly held company with many shareholders and an active board of directors in accordance with California corporation laws and federal securities laws. Additionally, the 2004 Bylaws also provide procedures and a framework for governance by committees as prescribed by federal securities laws for publicly held companies.

Major differences between the previous bylaws and the 2004 Bylaws include:

(A) The previous Bylaws provide for an annual meeting only on January 14 each year, and the 2004 Bylaws provide for an annual meeting when designated by the board of directors; (B) the previous Bylaws provide for shareholder action by consent in writing only by all of the shareholders entitled to vote, and the 2004 Bylaws provide for shareholder action by consent in writing by a majority of the shareholders entitled to vote; and (C) the previous Bylaws provide that the number of directors shall be fixed by the board of directors (but shall not be less than one) and shall be for a term of three years unless designated otherwise by majority vote of the board of directors; the 2004 Bylaws provide that the number of directors shall be from two to nine as determined by the board of directors, and each director shall serve until his successor shall be elected and qualified at the next annual meeting.
