Frequently Asked Questions – Week of July 27, 2009

The following information is being provided in response to Cameron and NATCO employee questions posted on the www.WelcometoCameron.com website. As has been noted in the prior FAQ installments, it is important to remember that until the merger is completed, the two companies must remain separate entities and continue to operate independently of each other.

1. I have a brokerage account in my 401k with individual stocks. Will I be asked to sell these stocks or will this be automatic?

Since Cameron does not have a brokerage window, we are still investigating how these stocks will be handled. Asking you to sell the stocks is one potential outcome.

Also, is it possible (legal) to transfer my entire 401k account intact to a private IRA with a broker of my own choosing and start my Cameron account with a zero balance?

The NATCO plan will merge with the Cameron plan in early 2010, so a rollover to a private IRA will not be possible.

2. Can you please expand on the Cameron Retirement Fund? I understand it is 3% of eligible pay up to the IRS compensation limit. Is this monthly/annual and what percentage can employee contribute? Any additional details would be appreciated.

Cameron contributes 3% of eligible pay (up to the IRS compensation limit) to all non-union employees. This “retirement contribution” is completely employer funded and is contributed regardless of an employee’s participation in the 401(k) plan. The contribution is deposited monthly.

Separate and apart from the retirement contribution is a dollar for dollar match on the first 6% contribution an employee makes into his or her 401(k) plan. So for employees who contribute at least 6% into 401(k), Cameron actually contributes 9% to their long-term savings plan: the 3% retirement contribution and the 6% 401(k) match.

3. What is the current pay rate for overseas work that Cameron pays to the employee?

Due to regulatory requirements of the process we are going through, we are unable to answer specific questions on pay rates.

Forward-Looking Statements

Information set forth in this document may contain forward-looking statements, which involve a number of risks and uncertainties. Cameron cautions readers that any forward-looking information is not a guarantee of future performance and that actual results could differ materially from those contained in the forward-looking information. Such forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements about the benefits of the business combination transaction involving Cameron and NATCO, including future financial and operating results, the new company's plans, objectives, expectations and intentions and other statements that are not historical facts.

The following additional factors, among others, could cause actual results to differ from those set forth in the forward-looking statements: the ability to satisfy the closing conditions of the transaction, including obtaining regulatory approvals for the transaction and the approval of the merger agreement by the NATCO stockholders; the risk that the businesses will not be integrated successfully; the risk that the cost savings and any other synergies from the transaction may not be fully realized or may take longer to realize than expected; disruption from the transaction making it more difficult to maintain relationships with customers, employees or suppliers; the impact of other acquisitions that Cameron or NATCO have made or may make before the transaction; competition and its effect on pricing; and exploration and development spending by E&P operators. Additional factors that may affect future results are contained in Cameron's and NATCO's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"), which are available at the SEC's web site <http://www.sec.gov>. Cameron and NATCO disclaim any obligation to update and revise statements contained in these materials based on new information or otherwise.
