March 26, 2003

YOUR VOTE IS IMPORTANT

You are urged to date, sign and promptly return the accompanying form of proxy, or to use the telephone or internet method of voting, so that if you are unable to attend the meeting your shares can be voted.

AMERADA HESS CORPORATION

PROXY STATEMENT

The enclosed proxy is solicited by the board of directors of Amerada Hess Corporation for use at the annual meeting of stockholders on May 7, 2003, at 2:00 P.M., local time.

The company's principal executive office is located at 1185 Avenue of the Americas, New York, New York 10036. The approximate date on which this proxy statement is first being sent to stockholders is March 26, 2003.

Holders of record of common stock of the company at the close of business on March 17, 2003 will be entitled to vote at the annual meeting. Each share of common stock will be entitled to one vote. On March 17, 2003, there were 89,916,430 shares of common stock outstanding. There are no other voting securities of the company outstanding. A majority of the outstanding shares of common stock, present in person or represented by proxy, will constitute a quorum at the annual meeting. Abstentions and broker non-votes will be counted for purposes of determining the presence of a quorum for the transaction of business.

If you are a registered stockholder, you can simplify your voting by using the internet or calling the toll-free number listed on the enclosed proxy card. Internet and telephone voting information is provided on the proxy card. A control number, located on the instruction sheet attached to the proxy card, is designated to verify a stockholder's identity and allow the stockholder to vote the shares and confirm that the voting instructions have been recorded properly. If you vote via the internet or by telephone, there is no need to return a signed proxy card. However, you may still vote by proxy by using the proxy card enclosed with this proxy statement.

Proxies in the form enclosed will be voted at the annual meeting in accordance with the specifications you make on the proxy. If you sign the proxy card and do not specify how your shares are to be voted, your shares will be voted:

for the election of directors nominated herein, and for the proposal to ratify the selection of Ernst & Young LLP as independent auditors for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2003.

You may revoke the proxy at any time prior to its use by delivering a written notice to the secretary of the company, by executing a later-dated proxy in a form permitted under Delaware law, or by attending the annual meeting and voting in person.

ELECTION OF DIRECTORS

At the annual meeting, four directors are to be elected to serve for a term of three years and until their successors are elected and qualified. It is intended that proxies will be voted for the nominees set forth herein. Directors are elected by a plurality of the votes cast. Accordingly, abstentions and broker non-votes will not affect tabulation of the vote for directors. It is expected that all candidates will be able to serve. However, if one or more are unable to do so, the proxy holders will vote the proxies for the remaining nominees and for substitute nominees chosen by the board of directors unless it reduces the number of directors to be elected.

The following table presents information as of March 5, 2003 on the nominees for election as directors of the company and the directors continuing in their respective terms of office:

See Ownership of Voting Securities by Certain Beneficial Owners.

The audit committee of the board of directors is composed of Robert N. Wilson, Chairman, Edith E. Holiday, Thomas H. Kean and Frank A. Olson. During 2002, the board of directors reviewed the composition of the audit committee in view of rules of the New York Stock Exchange. The board has determined that each member of the audit committee is independent within the meaning of these rules and believes each member will be independent within the meaning of proposed rules promulgated by the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 when applicable. The Board also believes that each member will be independent within the meaning of the proposed rules of the New York Stock Exchange and will make determinations of independence after promulgation of the final rules.

The Board expects to make a determination as to the audit committee financial expert under new rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission in due course.

The audit committee met six times in 2002. In addition, the audit committee held four telephone conference calls in 2002 with management and the independent auditors to review quarterly financial results.

The board of directors has adopted a written charter for the audit committee. A copy of this charter was included as an appendix to the company's proxy statement for its 2001 annual meeting. The Board intends to adopt a revised charter reflecting changes in response to proposed rules of the New York Stock Exchange and new SEC rules once final New York Stock Exchange rules have been promulgated, as well as certain other changes consistent with good corporate governance practices. As stated in the charter, the audit committee's principal responsibility is to provide assistance to the board of directors in fulfilling its oversight responsibility to the shareholders, the investment community and others relating to:

the company's financial statements,

the financial reporting practices of the company,

the systems of internal accounting and financial controls,

the internal audit function,

the annual independent audit of the company's financial statements, the review of the independence of outside auditors, and the company's environmental and safety policies and compliance.

The board of directors' compensation and management development committee is composed of Thomas H. Kean, Chairman, Nicholas F. Brady, Frank A. Olson and Robert N. Wilson. This committee met four times in 2002. The compensation and management development committee approves and administers the company's compensation policies for executive officers and approves the compensation of the chief executive officer, and is authorized to make awards of options, restricted stock and other stock and cash compensation permitted under the amended and restated 1995 long-term incentive plan. Also, this committee oversees the company's benefit plans. It recommends to the board of directors asset allocation targets and reviews the performance of investment managers for the employees' pension plan and approves any significant changes to the employees' savings and stock bonus plan and the savings and stock bonus plan for retail operations employees. In addition, this committee reviews and approves policies relating to the professional development of the company's executives. The board believes each member of this committee will be independent under proposed rules of the New York Stock Exchange and will make determinations of independence after promulgation of the final rules.

The directors and board affairs committee is composed of Nicholas F. Brady, Chairman, Edith E. Holiday and Thomas H. Kean. This committee is responsible for reviewing:

the size and composition of the board,

appropriate board practices and procedures,

board meeting content,

frequency and length of board meetings, and composition and function of committees of the board of directors.

This committee also recommends for election as directors qualified candidates identified through various sources. Stockholders may suggest candidates by writing to the secretary of the company, including a brief summary of each candidate's qualifications. This committee met twice in 2002. The board believes each member of this committee will be independent under proposed rules of the New York Stock Exchange and will make determinations of independence after promulgation of the final rules.

The board of directors met eight times in 2002. Each director attended at least 75% of the aggregate of all board of directors' meetings and all meetings of committees of the board of directors on which he or she served during 2002.

Certain Litigation

Two actions, which have been consolidated in United States District Court for the District of New Jersey, have been commenced against the named executive officers (other than Messrs. O'Connor, Schreyer and Walker) and certain other executive officers and former executive officers of the company alleging that these individuals sold shares of the company's common stock in advance of the company's acquisition of Triton Energy Limited in 2001 in violation of federal securities laws. In addition to the federal actions, four derivative actions seeking damages on behalf of the company, all of which have been consolidated in the Superior Court of the State of New Jersey, have been commenced against the named executive officers (other than Mr. O Connor), and certain other executive officers and former executive officers of the company, some of whom are also directors, alleging, among other things, that the officers breached their fiduciary duties by misusing material non-public information of the company to personally profit from sales of the company's common stock in connection with the Triton acquisition. The company believes that these actions are without merit and is advancing expenses to these individuals in accordance with the By-Laws of the company to defend these actions.

Section 16(a) Beneficial Ownership Reporting Compliance

On February 13, 2003, the company filed on behalf of Mr. Wilson a Form 5, reporting the purchase of an aggregate of 770 shares of the company's common stock for two trusts for the benefit of his minor children on December 4, 2002. The purchases should have been reported on a Form 4 filed by December 6, 2002.

Report of the Audit Committee

The audit committee of the board of directors oversees the company's financial reporting on behalf of the board. Management is responsible for the system of internal controls and for preparing financial statements. The independent auditors are responsible for expressing an opinion on the fair presentation of the audited financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. The audit committee operates in accordance with a charter approved by the board of directors.

In fulfilling its oversight responsibilities, the audit committee reviewed the audited December 31, 2002 financial statements of the company with management and the independent auditors. Management represented to the committee that these statements were prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. The audit committee also discussed accounting policies, significant judgements inherent in the financial statements, disclosures and other matters required by generally accepted auditing standards with management and the independent auditors. In addition, the committee has received from the independent auditors the annual independence disclosures required by Independence Standards Board Standard No. 1 and discussed with them their independence from management and the company. In that connection, the audit committee considered the compatibility of all non-audit services with the auditors' independence.

During 2002, the audit committee met with management, the internal auditors and independent auditors to discuss:

the annual audit scope and plans for their respective audits, the adequacy of staffing and related fees,

the results of their examinations, and the adequacy and effectiveness of accounting and financial controls.

The audit committee also met with the independent auditors and the internal auditors without management present.

In reliance on the reviews and discussions with management and the independent auditors, the audit committee recommended to the board of directors, and the board approved, the inclusion of the audited financial statements in the Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2002 to be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The audit committee has also recommended the selection of, and the board of directors has selected, Ernst & Young LLP as independent auditors for 2003. The board has proposed that the stockholders ratify this selection at the annual meeting.

the participant's average annual compensation in any three calendar years during the ten calendar years immediately preceding the participant's retirement date.

Benefits shown are computed as a straight life annuity beginning at age 65 and do not reflect the offset for a portion of social security benefits as required under the pension plan. Covered compensation for the named executives as of December 31, 2002 was: Mr. Hess: $2,588,333; Mr. Collins: $1,131,667; Mr. O'Connor: $1,570,000; Mr. Schreyer: $1,178,333; and Mr. Walker: $780,000.

The years of credited service for the named executives under the pension plan and, except for Messrs. As of February 1, 2003, Messrs. Schreyer, O'Connor and Walker had 38 years, 34 years and 25 years, respectively, of credited service under the supplemental plan pursuant to determinations of the compensation and management development committee that gave Messrs. Schreyer, O'Connor and Walker credit for 26 years, 33 years and 19 years, respectively, of prior service with previous employers for purposes of determining benefits under the supplemental plan. However, retirement benefits payable to Messrs. Schreyer, O'Connor and Walker in connection with their prior employment will be deducted from benefits payable under the supplemental plan.

Employment Contracts, Termination of Employment and Change of Control Arrangements

The company has entered into change in control termination benefit agreements with executive officers and certain other officers of the company. These agreements provide for lump sum cash payments equal to a multiple of an executive's annual compensation if the executive is actually or constructively terminated within 24 months following a change in control, as defined in the agreements. For these purposes, annual compensation consists of the executive's base pay at the date of his termination or immediately before the change in control, whichever is higher, plus the greater of his or her target bonus for the year in which the change in control occurs or the highest bonus earned in the three fiscal years preceding the change in control. The multiple of annual compensation received is three times for the named executive officers and two times for all other officers with whom such agreements were entered into.

In addition, the executive is entitled to receive a pro rata portion of his or her target bonus for the fiscal year in which termination occurs. The executive is also entitled to receive continuation of major medical, dental and other welfare benefits for 24 months following termination (36 months in the case of the named executive officers). The agreements provide for immediate vesting of retirement benefits upon termination and certain other ancillary benefits.

For purposes of these agreements, constructive termination includes a reduction in base salary or target annual bonus or a material adverse change in the nature or scope of the executive's authorities or responsibilities.

Messrs. O'Connor, Schreyer and Walker have agreements with the company which provide credit for prior service and determine benefits payable under the company's nonqualified supplemental retirement plan, as more fully described above under Retirement Plans.

Awards granted to employees under the incentive plan, including the named executive officers, are subject to accelerated vesting and, at the compensation and management development committee's discretion, cash-out upon the occurrence of a change of control, as defined in the incentive plan.

Directors Compensation

Each director who is not an employee of the company or any of its subsidiaries receives an annual fee of $55,000 for membership on the board of directors and a fee of $1,500 for each board of directors and stockholders meeting attended. These directors receive an additional annual fee of $4,000 for membership on each committee of the board of directors on which such director serves and a fee of $1,500 for each committee meeting attended. In addition, the chairperson of each committee receives an annual fee of $5,000. The members of the executive committee are John B. Hess, Chairman, Nicholas F. Brady, Thomas H. Kean and Robert N. Wilson. Mr. Hess is an employee of the company and receives no additional compensation for serving on any committee of the board of directors.

In addition, each non-employee director receives 500 shares of common stock, generally in the beginning of each year. These awards are made from treasury shares purchased by the company in the open market.

Compensation Committee Report on Executive Compensation

The compensation and management development committee of the board of directors is responsible for approving and administering the company's compensation policies for executive officers and approving the compensation of the chief executive officer of the company.

Executive Compensation Policies. The company's executive compensation policies are designed to attract and retain executives and motivate them to achieve the company's business goals through a combination of cash and stock-based compensation. The key elements of executive compensation consist of cash salary, cash bonuses, stock option awards, and restricted stock awards.

Cash Compensation. The company's goal is to target total cash compensation, using a combination of salary and cash bonus, at the 75th percentile of that of a group of surveyed industrial companies, if specified performance metrics are met. This level of cash compensation was selected in recognition of the company's need to remain competitive in attracting and retaining talented executives to work as part of a small management team functioning in a demanding corporate and market environment. The company's goal is to rely increasingly on cash bonuses in an effort to relate a greater portion of cash compensation to performance.

Salary. In determining salary levels for executive officers, the compensation and management development committee considers the following subjective and quantitative factors:

job level and responsibility,

individual performance,

recent corporate performance, success in implementing corporate strategy and long-term goals and development of future strategies, and the objective of targeting cash compensation at the company's desired percentile benchmark.

For 2002, the committee relied on two surveys: first, a survey of over 700 industrial companies with revenues comparable to the company, including six companies also included in the peer group discussed under Performance Graph, and a survey comprising eleven major oil and gas companies including three companies also included in the peer group.

Cash Bonus. The annual cash bonus plan approved by the committee for 2002 for executive officers, including the named executive officers, has both quantitative and qualitative elements. A target bonus was established for each executive officer. Target bonuses for executive officers were increased in most cases from 2001 bonus levels to align them with market benchmarks and in recognition of the fact that salaries for most executive officers have not increased in the past three years. Fifty percent of the target bonus is based on attainment of a specified target level of a quantitative corporate performance measure, net income before interest and special items, and the remaining fifty percent of the bonus is based on individual performance and other qualitative factors. This bonus formula was applied to all corporate executive officers as well as to all business unit executive officers, because the business unit bonus plan, as redesigned for 2002, failed to fairly reflect business unit performance in 2002. Consequently, the Committee has decided to redesign the business unit bonus plan for 2003 as it was in effect prior to 2002.

The weightings were developed to provide for a quantifiable performance incentive, but also to permit discretion to adjust compensation to recognize individual performance as well as to meet survey percentile benchmarks, to take account of unusual competitive market demands for specific skills and unforeseen conditions, such as a material change in the price assumptions underlying the quantitative component. Payouts may range from 0% to 150% of each component of the target bonus, based on the percentage attainment of the corporate performance measure and, with respect to the individual performance component, the committee's determination of an appropriate amount. Cash compensation in excess of $1 million to the named executive officers is not deductible for federal income tax purposes.

In 2002, the company achieved 86% of the corporate performance goal. The individual performance component was adjusted to result in total bonuses averaging approximately 80% of target bonus levels, resulting in average payouts of less than 75% of the individual performance component of the target bonus, at the mid-point of the possible payout range. This component of each individual's bonus was adjusted up or down from the average payout to reflect differences in performance among individuals. The Committee believes that the average 80% payout reflects an appropriate balance between the positive and negative aspects of the company's performance in 2002. Among the highlights of 2002 were:

- attaining third highest operating earnings in the company's history

- eight promising exploration discoveries in Equatorial Guinea and the Gulf of Mexico

- submission of development plans for three fields in Equatorial Guinea

- significant progress on reshaping the company's portfolio, with $412 million in asset sales

- exceeding debt repayment goal by repaying $673 million of debt.

Offsetting these positive developments were 2002 oil and gas production falling five percent under target, reduction in anticipated production for 2003, related reserve reductions and asset impairments, the net loss for the year and the company's stock performance in the latter half of 2002. Despite these disappointments, the committee recognizes the need to reward the exemplary individual performance of many of its executive officers who have contributed to the accomplishments of 2002 and who will continue to contribute to the company's ongoing efforts to position the company for future growth and profitability.

Long-Term Compensation Incentive Plan. The incentive plan, which was amended and restated in 1999 and approved by the board of directors and later by stockholders, was developed to align senior management's compensation more closely with the interests of stockholders. The incentive plan provides the compensation and management development committee with authority to grant various types of stock-based and other compensation, including performance awards, stock options, restricted stock, deferred stock, dividend equivalents and stock appreciation rights. The committee believes that a plan of this type affords the committee the flexibility to design compensation packages that provide appropriate remuneration to attract and retain talented executives, while at the same time providing incentives to maximize shareholder value.

While awards under the incentive plan to executive officers have been primarily option-based, the committee has also determined that grants of restricted stock, vesting in five years, are useful to support retention of employees. The committee believes that the combination of these two types of stock awards give executives considerable incentive to maximize long-term financial growth for shareholders. The annual aggregate grant levels depend on the company's performance as well as oil industry and general industry benchmarks. Individual awards are based on market benchmarks, grade level and individual performance.

Long-Term Compensation 2002 Awards. In February 2003, the committee granted restricted stock to executive officers and other employees of the company as compensation for 2002. The aggregate number of shares awarded at that time to all executive officers and other participating employees was 742,500 shares. Award levels were determined by reference to market benchmarks. The awards to executive officers on average are targeted to deliver long-term incentive compensation near the 75th percentile of such compensation as established in the benchmark surveys. Compensation paid in respect of restricted stock will not be deductible for federal income tax purposes.

Compensation of the Chief Executive Officer. Mr. Hess' cash compensation for 2002 was established in the manner discussed above for all executive officers. Mr. Hess' combined salary and bonus for 2002 were below the 75th percentile cash compensation benchmark for chief executive officers as determined from the surveys.

In approving the award of restricted stock shown in the summary compensation table to Mr. Hess for 2002, the committee again followed the principles set forth above in establishing long-term compensation for all executive officers for 2002. Based on comparative analyses of long-term compensation as published in the surveys, the total grant date value of Mr. Hess' restricted stock award was below the 75th percentile benchmark for chief executive officers as determined from the surveys.

The committee concluded that the total of Mr. Hess' 2002 cash compensation and the grant date present value of his long-term compensation was reasonable compared with that of his peers and was an appropriate level of compensation reflecting both the company's achievements and disappointments in 2002.
