NAM TAI ELECTRONICS, INC.

Announces Planned Changes to the Board of Directors

VANCOUVER, CANADA August 1, 2006 Nam Tai Electronics, Inc. (Nam Tai or the Company) (NYSE Symbol: NTE) today announced that its founder, Mr. Koo Ming Kown, 62, will retire as Nam Tai's non-executive Chairman effective on December 31, 2006. Mr. Koo plans to remain on Nam Tai's Board, as a non-executive director, from January 1, 2007 until the conclusion of Nam Tai's Annual General Shareholders Meeting to be held in June 2007, at which time Mr. Koo plans to retire from the Company's board of directors.

The term non-executive director is used by Nam Tai and many other companies with roots in Hong Kong to describe a member of a company's board of directors that is not an executive officer or other employee of the company. Since Nam Tai's common shares began to trade publicly in the United States in 1988, Mr. Koo has, in various capacities, focused primarily on corporate strategy, finance and administration rather than on the Company's day-to-day business operations and business development. Mr. Koo has served in the role of non-executive director of Nam Tai since January 2005 and reassumed the position as Chairman of the Board, but maintained his non-executive status, in July 2005 upon the resignation of Mr. Tadao Murakami, who resigned from the Company at that time for health reasons. Since then, Mr. Koo has reduced his daily involvement with the Company as a move towards retirement. On January 1, 2007, Mr. Koo will be succeeded as Nam Tai's non-executive Chairman by Mr. Charles Chu, 49. Mr. Chu has served Nam Tai as a non-executive member of its Board of Directors since November 1992. Since July 1988, Mr. Chu, an attorney, has been engaged in private practice in Hong Kong. Mr. Chu also serves on, and as Chairman of, the Company's Compensation Committee and serves on its Audit Committee and its Nominating/Corporate Governance Committee. Nam Tai's Board of Directors now comprises six members, all of whom are non-executive directors.

The Board of Directors has approved these changes to be effective in 2007 and is grateful for Mr. Koo's many outstanding contributions to Nam Tai since its founding in 1975. Under Mr. Koo's leadership, Nam Tai has evolved from a small electronic, wholesale products trading company with beginnings in Hong Kong into a large multinational company with securities traded in the United States, having manufacturing operations based in the Peoples Republic of China, offering advanced technologies and services and producing products on a scale and quality second to none in the world. Mr. Koo was one of the first entrepreneurs to take advantage of the shift in China's economic policy beginning in the early 1970s and Nam Tai was one of the early companies with operations located principally in China to access the US capital markets when it completed its initial public offering in March 1988. Since 1989, under Mr. Koo's guidance, Nam Tai has not only grown its business, advanced its technologies, expanded its operations and foothold in China, Nam Tai's shares have gone from trading in the US over-the-counter market where, at one period, quotations were available only from the National Quotations Bureau's Pink Sheets, to NASDAQ, to The Nasdaq Stock Market's National Market (now known as the Nasdaq Global Market) to the pinnacle of the world's securities exchanges, the New York Stock Exchange. On the New York Stock Exchange, Nam Tai's common shares now boast an aggregate market capitalization in the hundreds of millions of dollars. The Company has generated sales of over $870 million in the four quarters ended June 30, 2006 and has paid dividends for 13 consecutive years. From Nam Tai's birth 31 years ago to date, Mr. Koo has created, instilled and shaped the vision, moral values and culture of Nam Tai and its managers and employees and established and maintained the foundation and infrastructure to position Nam Tai, through the highly motivated, trained, and dedicated young management team of its three subsidiaries, for continued success.
