Item 8.01 Other Events.

In December 2001, Transcat, Inc. (Transcat) sold Transmation Products Group to Fluke Electronics Corporation (Fluke) for $11.0 million (which included a $0.5 million prepayment for various leases). In connection with the sale, Transcat entered into a distribution agreement (Distribution Agreement) with Fluke to be the exclusive worldwide distributor of Transmation and Altek products until December 31, 2006. Under the Distribution Agreement, Transcat also agreed to purchase a pre-determined amount of inventory from Fluke. SEC Staff Accounting Bulletin Topic 5E, Accounting for Divestiture of a Subsidiary or Other Business Operation, precluded Transcat from recognizing the gain associated with the sale for accounting purposes until the purchase commitments were either substantially modified or expired (by virtue of the terms of the Distribution Agreement or as a result of Transcat meeting its purchase commitments).

On October 31, 2002, with an effective date of September 1, 2002, Transcat entered into a new distribution agreement (New Agreement) with Fluke, which replaced the Distribution Agreement. Under the terms of the New Agreement, among other items, Transcat agreed to purchase a larger, pre-determined amount of inventory across a broader array of products and brands during each calendar year through 2006. Transcat s purchases for calendar years 2002, 2003, 2004, and 2005 exceeded the commitment under the New Agreement.

As previously reported in Transcat s Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended March 25, 2006, Form 10-Q for the fiscal year 2007 first quarter ended June 24, 2006, and Form 10-Q for the fiscal year 2007 second quarter ended September 23, 2006, Transcat expected to meet its purchase commitments for calendar year 2006, and, accordingly, also expected to recognize the deferred gain on the sale of Transmation Products Group to Fluke in the fiscal year 2007 third fiscal quarter ending on December 23, 2006.

Fluke has recently confirmed to Transcat that Transcat has met all of its purchase commitments and contractual obligations under the New Agreement through calendar year 2006. Accordingly, Transcat will recognize approximately $1.5 million gain on the sale (net of a reversal of a deferred tax asset of approximately $0.6 million), which has been deferred since fiscal year 2002, in the fiscal year 2007 third quarter ending on December 23, 2006.

Once the New Agreement ends on December 31, 2006, Transcat expects to enter into another distribution agreement (Future Agreement) with Fluke. Transcat is in discussions with Fluke regarding the Future Agreement and although these discussions have not yet been completed, as part of the Future Agreement, Fluke has agreed that Transcat will remain the exclusive worldwide distributor of Transmation and Altek products, subject to certain minimum product purchase requirements.
