Important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from our expectations include the risks inherent generally in the insurance and financial services industries, the impact of competition and product pricing, changing market conditions, the risks disclosed in our annual report on Form $10-\mathrm{KSB}$ for the year ended December 31, 2000 under "Item 6--Management's Discussion and Analysis or Plan of Operation," as well as the risks disclosed in our prospectus dated May 14,2001 , of which this prospectus supplement is a part. All subsequent written and oral forward-looking statements attributable to us, or persons acting on our behalf, are expressly qualified in their entirety by these cautionary statements. We assume no duty to update or revise our forward-looking statements based on changes in internal estimates or expectations or otherwise. As a result, the reader is cautioned not to place reliance on these forward-looking statements.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Total assets were $$ 6,349,059$ at June 30,2001 , compared to $$ 6,162,682$ at December 31, 2000, an increase of $3.0 \%$. The increase was due to the receipt of new annuity deposits.

Total liabilities, primarily insurance reserves for future policyholder benefits, were $$ 5,257,232$ at June 30,2001 , compared to $$ 5,187,382$ at December 31, 2000, an increase of $1 \%$. The increase was due primarily to new annuity deposits.

S-4

Total stockholders' equity was $$ 1,091,827$ at June 30,2001 , compared to $$ 975,300$ at December 31, 2001, an increase of $12 \%$. The increase was attributable to the sale of 200,200 shares of common stock, sold pursuant to a public offering of our stock.

The principal requirements for liquidity in connection with our operations are our contractual obligations to policyholders and annuitants. Our contractual obligations include payments of surrender benefits, contract withdrawals, policy loans and claims under outstanding insurance policies and annuities. Payment of surrender benefits is a function of "persistency," which is the extent to which insurance policies are maintained by the policyholder. Policyholders sometimes do not pay premiums, thus causing their policies to lapse, or policyholders may choose to surrender their policies for their cash surrender value. If actual experience of a policy or block of policies is different from the initial or acquisition date assumptions, a gain or loss could result. Depending on the nature of the underlying policy, a lapse or surrender may result in surrender charge revenue or surrender benefit expense. Such amounts may be less than, or greater than, unamortized acquisition expenses and/or the related policy reserves; accordingly, current period earnings may either increase or decrease. Additionally, policy lapses and surrenders may result in lost future revenues and profits associated with those policies that are lapsed or surrendered.

Although we currently have a $$ 200,000$ bank line of credit, we fund most of our activity directly from cash flow from operations and cash flow from financing activities, which includes deposits to policyholders' account balances. The line of credit extends to July 2002, with amounts borrowed thereunder bearing interest at prime plus . $5 \%$. At June 30, 2001 and as of the date of this Report, $$ 200,000$ was outstanding under the line of credit.

On January 13, 1999, we acquired 100\% of the outstanding common stock of Great Midwest Life Insurance Company, a Texas-chartered life insurance company. The total cost of the acquisition was approximately $$ 939,000$. Of the purchase price, cash of $$ 607,000$ was paid to seven of eight stockholders with the eighth stockholder receiving a promissory note for a principal amount of $$ 332,000$, payable in three equal annual installments at an annual interest rate of $6 \%$ on the unpaid principal balance. We partially funded the cash portion of the purchase price with a $$ 350,000$ loan from a bank. The loan accrued interest at an index rate plus . 5\%, payable monthly, and originally matured on July 9, 1999, at which time we paid $$ 100,000$ of the principal amount owed and renewed the balance for a six-month term maturing January 9, 2000. The balance of the loan was paid December 31, 1999 using operating cash flow and the proceeds from the sale of Benefit Capital Life Insurance Company, our wholly owned subsidiary. In addition, during the three months ended June 30, 2001, we paid the last of the three installments on the promissory note held by a former stockholder of Great Midwest.

We have made and intend to make substantial expenditures in connection with our subsidiary's acquisition and marketing programs. Historically, we have funded these expenditures from cash flow from operations.

We believe that the liquidity resulting from the sale of our common stock, together with anticipated cash from continuing operations, should be sufficient to fund our operations and to make required payments under our credit facility and the annual 10\% dividend on the Series A Preferred Stock, for at least the next 12 months. We may not, however, generate sufficient cash flow for these purposes or to repay the note at maturity. Our ability to fund operations and to make scheduled principal and interest payments will depend on our future performance, which, to a certain extent, is subject to general economic, financial, competitive, legislative, regulatory and other factors that are beyond our control.

Recent Events

On August 1, 2001, our wholly owned subsidiary, Great Midwest Life Insurance Company acquired through an assumption reinsurance agreement $100 \%$ of the inforce life insurance business of Presidential Life Insurance Company of Dallas, Texas, for a net cash purchase price of approximately $$ 165,000$. The acquired business consists primarily of individual life insurance business with policy reserves and annual premium of approximately $$ 780,000$ and $$ 120,000$, respectively.
