To Ingersoll Rand Employees:

Today we announced an exciting move for our company, one that represents a major milestone in our company s transformation. We signed an agreement to acquire Piscataway, NJ-based Trane, a leading global supplier of energy-efficient heating, ventilating and air conditioning systems and advanced building controls for commercial and residential markets. The press release announcing this transaction can be found here.

This transaction solidifies Ingersoll Rand s status as a premier global diversified industrial company with leading positions in climate control, industrial and security markets. The combined businesses will have revenues of approximately $17 billion, with approximately $11 billion of our total revenues deriving from global climate control markets.

Bringing together our company with Trane meets our objective of adding less-cyclical businesses to our portfolio with strong brands, strong global growth prospects and sizable recurring revenues. Trane s strong businesses in commercial and residential climate control complements our own highly regarded Hussmann and Thermo King businesses, and gives us a leading global position with a portfolio of premium brands.

At the same time, we improve our ability to deliver enhanced long-term value for Ingersoll Rand customers through expanded and comprehensive climate control solutions. Together, with Trane, we can work more strategically with all of our customers, broadening our product and service offerings for them through our complementary solutions.

Let me provide you with a few examples of our opportunities as a combined company. Trane currently uses third parties to service its light commercial products. We believe this represents an opportunity for our existing climate control service organization to capture that sizable recurring revenue stream. In addition, with Trane s capabilities we are better positioned to provide technologies, products and services throughout the cold chain. Specifically, we will participate in all of the activities and processes necessary to preserve foods and perishables from their point of origin through their point of consumption or use. Also, we offer Trane an expanded global manufacturing footprint. While this obviously will benefit Trane, it also enables our organization to take on production in existing facilities where appropriate.

Seven years ago, we recognized the need for sweeping change in our company s business model and undertook our transformation. From the beginning, our priorities have included decreasing the cyclicality of our business portfolio and pursuing profitable growth, while becoming more global, more customer-centric and more innovative. The Trane acquisition substantially advances our progress in all of these areas.

Following the completion of closing conditions, including regulatory reviews and approval by Trane shareholders, we expect to complete this transaction toward the end of the first quarter or the beginning of the second quarter of 2008. In the meantime, Ingersoll Rand and Trane will remain separate companies, with separate management and customers.

Prospectively, our plan is to operate Trane s Commercial and Residential businesses as two separate businesses, reporting directly to me. Of course, under the Dual Citizenship model, these businesses will interact with the Climate Control Technologies Sector to leverage knowledge, intellectual property, best practices, and resources for the businesses mutual benefit. Also, we expect to maintain our current approach of operating multi-site corporate and shared service locations, which will include the addition of comparable Trane facilities.

Clearly, this is an exciting day for Ingersoll Rand employees, customers, shareholders and our other stakeholders. We will provide more information as we make progress with the integration process. In the meantime, thank you for your continued hard work and support which has helped to make this possible.

Sincerely yours,

Herb Henkel

Note: Because the transaction is subject to a vote of Trane stockholders and requires registration of the shares of Ingersoll Rand to be issued in the transaction, our written communications regarding the transaction may be deemed to be solicitations of proxies or an offering prospectus. As a result, the following information (legends) needs to be included in our communications to satisfy legal requirements.

Editor s note: Herb Henkel will host a special webcast via the Internet today at 4:00 p.m., Eastern U.S. time, to discuss today s announcement. Because of the need to prevent potential disruptions to other web- or Internet-related business applications, we only can accommodate a limited number of connections to the webcast at any given time. As a result, we are asking our locations to reserve meeting spaces where a sizable number of employees can view and listen to the webcast together. In addition, large meeting spaces should have the ability to amplify the audio feed from the presenting computer.

Details for the webcast will be available later today and sent via a Special IRDN.
