CAUTIONARY STATEMENT

Certain statements found in this document may constitute forward-looking statements as defined in the U.S. Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Such forward-looking statements reflect management's current views with respect to certain future events and financial performance and include any statement that does not directly relate to any historical or current fact. Words such as anticipate, believe, expect, estimate, forecast, intend, plan, project and similar expressions which indicate future events and trends may identify forward-looking statements. Such statements are based on currently available information and are subject to various risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those projected or implied in the forward-looking statements and from historical trends. Certain forward-looking statements are based upon current assumptions of future events which may not prove to be accurate. Undue reliance should not be placed on forward-looking statements, as such statements speak only as of the date of this document.

Factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those projected or implied in any forward-looking statement and from historical trends include, but are not limited to:

increased commoditization of information technology products and digital media related products and intensifying price competition for such products, particularly in the Information & Telecommunication Systems segment, Electronic Devices segment and Digital Media & Consumer Products segment;

fluctuations in product demand and industry capacity, particularly in the Information & Telecommunication Systems segment, Electronic Devices segment and Digital Media & Consumer Products segment;

uncertainty as to Hitachi's ability to continue to develop and market products that incorporate new technology on a timely and cost-effective basis and to achieve market acceptance for such products;

rapid technological innovation, particularly in the Information & Telecommunication Systems segment, Electronic Devices segment and Digital Media & Consumer Products segment;

exchange rate fluctuation for the yen and other currencies in which Hitachi makes significant sales or in which Hitachi's assets and liabilities are denominated, particularly against the U.S. dollar and the euro;

increases in the price of raw materials including, without limitation, petroleum and other materials, such as copper, steel, aluminum and synthetic resins;

uncertainty as to Hitachi's ability to implement measures to reduce the potential negative impact of fluctuations in product demand, exchange rate fluctuation and/or increases in the price of raw materials;

general socio-economic and political conditions and the regulatory and trade environment of Hitachi's major markets, particularly Japan, Asia, the United States and Europe, including, without limitation, a return to stagnation or a deterioration of the Japanese economy, direct or indirect restrictions by other nations on imports, or differences in commercial and business customs including, without limitation, contract terms and conditions and labor relations;

uncertainty as to Hitachi's access to, or ability to protect, certain intellectual property rights, particularly those related to electronics and data processing technologies;

Edgar Filing: HITACHI LTD - Form 6-K

uncertainty as to the outcome of litigation, regulatory investigations and other legal proceedings of which the Company, its subsidiaries or its equity method affiliates have become or may become parties;

the possibility of incurring expenses resulting from any defects in products or services of Hitachi;

uncertainty as to the success of restructuring efforts to improve management efficiency and to strengthen competitiveness;

uncertainty as to the success of alliances upon which Hitachi depends, some of which Hitachi may not control, with other corporations in the design and development of certain key products;

uncertainty as to Hitachi's ability to access, or access on favorable terms, liquidity or long-term financing; and uncertainty as to general market price levels for equity securities in Japan, declines in which may require Hitachi to write down equity securities it holds.

The factors listed above are not all-inclusive and are in addition to other factors contained elsewhere in this document and in other materials published by Hitachi.

The Business1. Overview of Business Results, etc.*Business Results

During the third quarter of fiscal 2008, the effects of the deepening global financial crisis, triggered by the bankruptcy of a major investment bank in the U.S. in September 2008, have spread to the real economy, as evidenced by weak consumer spending and reduced capital investment, resulting in rapid economic deterioration in the U.S., Europe, etc. China and other emerging countries also experienced a slowdown in economic growth, affected by the weak U.S. and European economies. The Japanese economy also deteriorated dramatically due to significant reduction in capital investment stemming from worsening corporate revenues and substantial demand decrease, including export demand.

Under such circumstances, consolidated revenues during the third quarter of fiscal 2008 recorded JPY2,260.5 billion due to sluggish performance in all industry segments, including the Power & Industrial Systems segment, the Digital Media & Consumer Products segment and the High Functional Materials & Components segment, following a rapid fall in demand for automobiles, semiconductors, industrial equipment, etc.

Cost of sales stood at JPY1,780.7 billion. The ratio of cost of sales to revenues accounted for 79% due to decreased revenue, although the Company saw positive effects from its cost reduction efforts.

Selling, general and administrative expenses were JPY494.3 billion and their ratio to revenues was 22%.

JPY14.5 billion of operating loss was recorded due to loss incurred in the Power & Industrial Systems segment, the Digital Media & Consumer Products segment and the High Functional Materials & Components segment driven primarily by reduced sales, although the Information & Telecommunication Systems segment showed solid performance.

Other income totaled JPY6.1 billion. Interest income and dividends income came to JPY4.6 billion and JPY1.5 billion, respectively.

Table of Contents

Hitachi recorded interest charges of JPY9.0 billion, impairment losses for long-lived assets of JPY12.4 billion, restructuring charges of JPY2.4 billion, and other deductions of JPY141.3 billion. The main items of impairment losses for long-lived assets include the booking of JPY3.9 billion, due to a decline in the expected selling price of certain assets held by an overseas subsidiary in the Information & Telecommunication Systems segment for sale caused by a deterioration of the real estate market, and another loss of JPY3.8 billion, which was posted mainly due to decline in productivity of a domestic subsidiary in the Digital Media & Consumer Products segment following a decrease in demand for digital media related components. Restructuring charges primarily consist of special termination benefits in the Financial Services segment under the early retirement program, which was implemented for the purpose of reducing cost and improving profitability, and costs related with streamlining and reorganization of manufacturing bases in the Information & Telecommunication Systems segment. The main components of other deductions include equity in net loss of affiliated companies of JPY85.8 billion due primarily to sluggish performance of equity-method affiliates engaged in semiconductor and liquid crystal display businesses, exchange loss of JPY38.5 billion due to ongoing appreciation of the Japanese yen, net loss on securities of JPY14.5 billion mainly due to the write-down of securities amid weak stock market conditions in Japan, and net loss of JPY2.3 billion on sale and disposal of rental assets and other property.

As a result, loss before income taxes and minority interests stood at JPY173.6 billion.

Income taxes totaled JPY225.3 billion, mainly due to write-downs of deferred tax assets. This resulted from the shortened period for realizing tax benefits, due to the sharp decrease in taxable income of the Company and its subsidiaries subject to consolidated taxation.

As a result, loss before minority interests was JPY398.9 billion.

Minority interests stood at a loss of JPY27.8 billion due to poor performance of listed subsidiaries.

As a result, net loss was JPY371.0 billion.

Business Results by Industry Segment

The business results are analyzed by industry segment in the following overview. Segment revenues include intersegment transactions.

(Information & Telecommunication Systems)

Segment revenues were JPY600.9 billion. In services business, system integration remained firm due to favorable demand in the public sector. Outsourcing business also showed steady performance. For the software business, OS-related software performed poorly. For the hardware business, sales of HDD and disk array subsystems were affected by the appreciation of the Japanese yen, and sales of servers also showed poor performance, although telecommunications network equipment kept steady performance.

Segment operating income was JPY38.3 billion. The result is attributed to good performance in the services business resulting from enhancement of project management initiatives, including order management and process control. The hardware business also showed good results mainly due to firm performance of HDD operations which benefited from cost reduction and gains from new products, and firm performance of telecommunications network equipment.

(Electronic Devices)

Segment revenues stood at JPY258.2 billion, and operating income was JPY4.0 billion. Although small- and medium-sized LCDs showed firm performance continued to grow, semiconductor manufacturing equipment at Hitachi High-Technologies Corporation performed poorly due to limited capital investments by domestic and overseas semiconductor manufacturers.

(Power & Industrial Systems)

Segment revenues were JPY702.5 billion. The result is attributable to sluggish sales of automotive-related products and construction machinery of Hitachi Construction Machinery Co., Ltd. affected by the decreased global demand for automobiles and construction machinery. Sales of railway vehicles and systems remained steady in overseas markets. The amount of orders received by the Company's Power & Industrial Systems division, the core of this industry segment, were also sluggish primarily in the area of automotive-related products.

Segment operating loss was JPY25.4 billion, which was incurred mainly due to sluggish sales of automotive-related products and construction machinery as well as the rapid appreciation of the Japanese yen.

Table of Contents

(Digital Media & Consumer Products)

Segment revenues stood at JPY309.3 billion. The result is mainly attributed to the effects from reduced sales volume of flat-panel TVs for overseas following business restructuring, and the slow performance of digital media products including optical disk drives for PCs, and room air conditioners for overseas markets, resulting from the weakened demand caused by the economic downturn. Industrial air-conditioning equipment recorded solid sales.

Segment operating loss was JPY16.1 billion. Optical disk drives and other products showed lackluster performance and air-conditioning equipment was negatively affected by price decline and soaring raw materials prices, while flat panel TV business benefited from business restructuring, improving its profitability.

(High Functional Materials & Components)

Segment revenues were JPY376.5 billion. Decrease in worldwide demand for automobiles and semiconductors has affected sales of automotive- and semiconductor-related materials and components manufactured by Hitachi Cable, Ltd., Hitachi Metals, Ltd., and Hitachi Chemical Co., Ltd., and the sale of a subsidiary of Hitachi Chemical Co., Ltd also affected the segment's results.

Segment operating loss was JPY0.5 billion as a result of inventory write-down at Hitachi Cables, Ltd. to reflect the decline in copper price, along with lower sales.

(Logistics, Services & Others)

Segment revenues were JPY246.5 billion, and segment operating income stood at JPY4.6 billion. Although Hitachi Transport System, Ltd. performed well driven by gains from system logistic business and new contracts, overseas sales subsidiaries showed poor performance.

(Financial Services)

Segment revenues were JPY84.3 billion mainly due to the adverse effect of smaller demand in leasing markets on Hitachi Capital Corporation as a result of reduced capital investment. Segment operating income stood at JPY2.1 billion due to decrease in the volume of leasing transactions as well as effects of increasing amount of loss on bad debts.

Business Results by Geographic Segment

The business results are analyzed by geographic segment in the following overview. Revenues by geographic segment include intersegment transactions.

(Japan)

Revenues in Japan totaled JPY1,794.4 billion. The result is mainly attributed to sluggish sales of automotive-related equipment, materials and components amid significant production cutback among automobile manufacturers as well as unfavorable sales of semiconductor manufacturing equipment and construction machinery, although the services business and sales of telecommunications network equipment in the area of information & telecommunication systems remained steady.

Operating loss stood at JPY13.2 billion. Although solid performance was obtained from the services business and telecommunications network equipment business in the area of information & telecommunication systems, these gains were offset by poor performance of automotive-related products, materials and components as well as semiconductor production equipment and digital media products.

(Asia)

Revenues in Asia were JPY523.2 billion, and operating income stood at JPY19.3 billion. Construction machinery business showed poorly as a result of reduced investment in housing sector amid financial crunch, and automotive-related equipment also suffered negative growth, while sales of HDDs as well as those of elevators and escalators in China remained steady.

(North America)

Edgar Filing: HITACHI LTD - Form 6-K

Revenues in North America stood at JPY222.8 billion mainly due to sluggish performance in the automotive-related products, materials and components, impacted from significant production cutback among automobile manufacturers, although sales of HDDs remained steady.

Operating income was JPY2.5 billion mainly due to poor performance of automotive-related products, materials and components as well as digital media products and construction machinery, although sales of HDDs showed steady performance.

(Europe)

Revenues in Europe recorded JPY167.6 billion. Automotive-related products business proved to be challenging, and construction machinery business also performed poorly due to the financial crunch and resulting reduced investment in housing sector, offsetting sales of coal-fired thermal power plants and solid performance of the storage solution business. Operating loss was JPY13.3 billion.

(Other Areas)

Revenues in other areas were JPY39.3 billion, and operating income was JPY1.9 billion. The results are mainly attributable to slow growth in sales of mineral mining machinery in South America and Australia.

Table of Contents

2. Overview of Financial Position, etc.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

During the third quarter of fiscal 2008, the Company had no major changes in the policies of maintaining liquidity and ensuring funds, efforts for improvement in fund management efficiency, and ideas regarding funding sources and fundraising. The Company's long-term debt rating has been changed to A2 from A1 by Moody's after the end of the third quarter of fiscal 2008.

Cash Flows

(Cash flows from operating activities)

Operating activities used net cash of JPY120.2 billion. Such cash outflow was attributable mainly to decrease in receipts of payment from sales and increase in inventories as a result of lower sales on sharply falling demand for automobiles, semiconductors, and industrial machinery amid the global economic downturn.

(Cash flows from investing activities)

Investing activities used net cash of JPY134.1 billion. Capital expenditures of JPY90.0 billion were spent mainly for manufacturing facilities for small- and medium-sized LCDs and automotive products, while maintaining the attitude of strict selection of investments. A net sum of JPY96.4 billion was recorded as investments related to property, plant and equipment, where the collection of investments in leases and the proceeds from disposal of rental assets and other property were subtracted from the capital expenditures as well as the purchase of assets to be leased.

(Cash flows from financing activities)

Increase in short-term debt came to JPY362.6 billion mainly due to the issuance of the Company's commercial paper. Net cash provided by financing activities was JPY344.4 billion, after making payment of dividends.

The net result of the above items at the end of the third quarter of fiscal 2008 increased JPY50.9 billion in cash and cash equivalents, to JPY547.3 billion compared to the amount at the end of the second quarter of fiscal 2008. Free cash flows, the sum of cash flows from operating and investing activities, were an outflow of JPY254.4 billion.

Assets, Liabilities and Stockholders' Equity

Total assets at the end of the third quarter of fiscal 2008 were JPY9,834.4 billion, a decrease of JPY696.3 billion from the end of fiscal 2007, due to a reduction in accounts receivable and write-down of deferred tax assets, despite of an increase in inventories due to seasonal reasons and sluggish sales.

Total short-term debt and long-term debt at the end of the third quarter of fiscal 2008 increased by JPY248.0 billion from the end of fiscal 2007, to JPY2,779.5 billion mainly due to issuance of commercial paper.

Minority interests at the end of the third quarter of fiscal 2008 decreased by JPY42.4 billion from the end of fiscal 2007, to JPY1,100.0 billion mainly due to lackluster performance of the listed subsidiaries.

Total stockholders' equity at the end of the third quarter of fiscal 2008 decreased by JPY459.8 billion from the end of fiscal 2007, to JPY1,710.8 billion mainly due to posting of quarterly net loss, decrease in foreign currency translation adjustments reflecting the ongoing appreciation of the Japanese yen, and decrease in net unrealized holding gain on securities caused primarily by the stagnant domestic stock market. As a result, the ratio of stockholders' equity to total assets decreased to 17.4% from 20.6% at the end of fiscal 2007. Moreover, the ratio of the total of short-term debt and long-term debt to the total of stockholders' equity and minority interests increased to 0.99 from 0.76 at the end of fiscal 2007.

HITACHI, LTD. AND SUBSIDIARIES

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

December 31, 2008

(1) Nature of Operations

Hitachi, Ltd. (the Company) is a Japanese corporation, whose principal office is located in Japan. The Company's and its subsidiaries' businesses are diverse, and include information and telecommunication systems, electronic devices, power and industrial systems, digital media and consumer products, high functional materials and components, and other services including financial services and logistics services.

(2) Basis of Presentation and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

(a) Basis of Presentation

The Company and its domestic subsidiaries keep their books of account in accordance with the financial accounting standards of Japan, and its foreign subsidiaries in accordance with those of the countries of their domicile.

The consolidated financial statements presented herein have been prepared in a manner and reflect the adjustments which are necessary to conform them with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Management of the Company has made a number of estimates and assumptions relating to the reporting of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities to prepare these financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

(b) Principles of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company, its majority-owned subsidiaries and all variable interest entities (VIEs) for which any of the Company and its consolidated entities is the primary beneficiary. A VIE is defined in Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Interpretation No. 46 (revised December 2003), Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities, an interpretation of Accounting Research Bulletin No. 51. This interpretation addresses how a business enterprise should evaluate whether it has a controlling financial interest in an entity through means other than voting rights and accordingly should consolidate the entity. The consolidated financial statements include accounts of certain subsidiaries, whose closing dates differ from December 31 by 93 days or less, to either comply with local statutory requirements or facilitate timely reporting. There have been no significant transactions, which would materially affect the Company's financial position and results of operations, with such subsidiaries during the period from their closing dates to December 31. Intercompany accounts and significant intercompany transactions have been eliminated in consolidation.

Investments in corporate joint ventures and affiliated companies, where the Company has the ability to exercise significant influence over operational and financial policies generally by holding 20 - 50% ownership, are accounted for under the equity method. Investments where the Company does not have significant influence are accounted for under the cost method.

(c) Income Taxes

The Company computes interim income tax provisions by applying an estimated annual effective tax rate, which is reasonably determined considering the factors that will affect the tax rate including events that do not have tax consequences, tax credits and valuation allowances, to current income before income taxes and minority interests in accordance with Accounting Principles Board (APB) Opinion No. 28, Interim Financial Reporting. The effect of a change as a result of a change in judgement about the realizability of the related deferred tax asset is recognized in the interim period in which the change occurs.

(d) Disclosures about Segments of an Enterprise and Related Information

SFAS No. 131, Disclosures about Segments of an Enterprise and Related Information, establishes standards about how a public business enterprise is required to report financial and descriptive information about its operating segments. This standard defines operating segments as components of an enterprise for which separate financial information is available and evaluated regularly as a means for assessing segment performance and allocating resources to segments. Measures of profit or loss, total assets and other related information are required to be disclosed for each operating segment. Furthermore, this standard requires the disclosure of information concerning revenues derived from the enterprise's products or services, countries in which it earns revenue or holds assets and major customers. However, certain foreign private issuers are presently exempted from the segment disclosure requirements of SFAS No. 131 in filings with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and the Company has not presented the segment information required to be disclosed in the footnotes to the consolidated financial statements based on the provisions of SFAS No. 131.

(e) Changes in Accounting Principles

The Company adopted the provisions of SFAS No. 157, Fair Value Measurements for financial assets and financial liabilities and for non-financial assets and non-financial liabilities recognized or disclosed at fair value in the financial statements on a recurring basis (at least annually) on April 1, 2008. The adoption of SFAS No. 157 did not have a material effect on the Company's consolidated financial statements.

The Company adopted the provisions of FSP No. FAS 140-4 and FIN 46(R)-8 Disclosures by Public Entities (Enterprises) about Transfers of Financial Assets and Interests in Variable Interest Entities for the three months ended December 31, 2008. Notes in conformity with these provisions are not stated in this report.

Table of ContentsHITACHI, LTD. AND SUBSIDIARIES*Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements*December 31, 2008*(f) New Accounting Standards

In December 2007, the FASB issued SFAS No. 141 (revised 2007), Business Combinations, and SFAS No. 160, Noncontrolling Interests in Consolidated Financial Statements. These statements will improve and simplify the accounting for business combinations and the reporting of noncontrolling interests in consolidated financial statements. SFAS No. 141 requires an acquiring entity in a business combination to recognize all the assets acquired, liabilities assumed and any noncontrolling interest in an acquiree at the full amount of their fair values as of the acquisition date. Also, SFAS No. 160 clarifies that a noncontrolling interest in a subsidiary should be reported as equity in the consolidated financial statements and all the transactions for changes in a parent's ownership interest in a subsidiary that do not result in deconsolidation are equity transactions. These statements are required to be adopted simultaneously and are effective for the first annual reporting period beginning on or after December 15, 2008. The Company is currently evaluating the effect of adopting these statements on the consolidated financial position and results of operations.

In May 2008, the FASB issued FSP No. APB 14-1, Accounting for Convertible Debt Instruments That May Be Settled in Cash upon Conversion (including Partial Cash Settlement). This FSP requires that issuers of convertible debt instruments that may be settled in cash or other assets upon conversion should separately account for the liability and equity components in a manner that reflects the entity's nonconvertible debt borrowing rate when interest cost is recognized in subsequent periods. This statement is effective for financial statements issued for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2008, and interim periods within those fiscal years. The requirements must be applied retrospectively to all periods presented. The Company is currently evaluating the effect of adopting these statements on the consolidated financial position and results of operations.

Indefinite-lived intangible assets	7,987		7,987	8,428		8,428

(5) Income Taxes

The Company's combined statutory income tax rate is approximately 40.6%. However, the current estimated annual effective tax rate applied to current income before income taxes and minority interests is significantly higher than the statutory rate for the nine months and the three months ended December 31, 2008 because the Company recognized an increase in the valuation allowance against deferred tax assets due to the change in judgement about the realizability of the deferred tax assets in line with the decline in the taxable income of the group, including the Company, that files a consolidated tax return and certain subsidiaries and equity in loss of affiliated companies.

(11) Commitments and Contingencies

The Company and its operating subsidiaries are contingently liable for loan guarantees to its affiliates and others in the amount of approximately ¥47,159 million as of December 31, 2008.

Hitachi Capital Corporation (HCC) and certain other financial subsidiaries provide guarantees to financial institutions for extending loans to customers of the subsidiaries. As of December 31, 2008, the undiscounted maximum potential future payments under such guarantees amounted to ¥449,246 million. The Company accrued ¥8,595 million as an obligation to stand ready to perform over the term of the guarantees in the event the customer cannot make scheduled payments.

The subsidiaries provide certain revolving lines of credit to its credit card holders in accordance with the terms of the credit card business customer service contracts. Furthermore, the subsidiaries provide credit facilities to parties in accordance with the service agency business contracts from which temporary payments on behalf of such parties are made. In addition, the Company and HCC provide loan commitments mainly to affiliates.

The outstanding balance of these revolving lines of credit, credit facilities and loan commitments as of December 31, 2008 is as follows:

	Millions of yen
Total commitment available	592,609
Less amount utilized	5,351
Balance available	587,258

A portion of these revolving lines of credit is pending credit approval and cannot be utilized.

The Company and certain subsidiaries have line of credit arrangements with banks in order to secure a financing source for business operations. The unused line of credit as of December 31, 2008 amounted to ¥717,952 million.

Edgar Filing: HITACHI LTD - Form 6-K

It is a common practice in Japan for companies, in the ordinary course of business, to receive promissory notes in the settlement of trade accounts receivable and to subsequently discount such notes to banks or to transfer them by endorsement to suppliers in the settlement of accounts payable. As of December 31, 2008 and March 31, 2008, the Company and subsidiaries were contingently liable for trade notes discounted and endorsed in the following amounts:

On June 15, 2006, Hamaoka Nuclear Power Station No. 5 of Chubu Electric Power Co., Inc. shut down due to turbine damage. As a precautionary measure, on July 5, 2006, Shika Nuclear Power Station No. 2 of Hokuriku Electric Power Company, which uses the same type of turbines, was shut down for an examination of the turbines and the examination revealed damage to the turbine vanes. A provision for the repair costs was accrued. Although the Company cannot estimate specified damages at the present time, there can be no assurance that the Company could not be liable for repair costs or other damages incurred by Hokuriku Electric Power Company.

HITACHI, LTD. AND SUBSIDIARIES

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

December 31, 2008

On September 12, 2008, Chubu Electric Power Co., Inc. filed suit against the Company to claim for compensation for consequential losses mostly composed of the additional costs to switch to thermal power arising from shutdown at Hamaoka Nuclear Power Station No.5. This case is under dispute in court at present, and the Company decided to vigorously defend against it. Consequently, the Company has not accrued for consequential losses.

In January 2007, the European Commission ordered the Company and one of its affiliated companies to pay a fine for infringement of EC antitrust rules regarding alleged antitrust violations for the gas insulated switchgear equipment used at substations. In April 2007, the Company lodged an appeal with the Court of First Instance of the European Communities requesting the court to annul the decision of the European Commission. The determination has not been rendered at present, but the Company accrued the reasonably estimated amount for the fine.

In October 2006, a subsidiary and an affiliate of the Company in the U.S. received requests for information from the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice in respect of alleged antitrust violations relating to static random access memories. In December 2008, these companies received information that the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice terminated the investigation of this matter.

In December 2006, the Company and a subsidiary in Europe received requests for information from the European Commission, a subsidiary in Japan received requests for information from the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice and the Fair Trade Commission of Japan and an affiliate in Japan received a request for information from the Fair Trade Commission of Japan in respect of alleged antitrust violations relating to the liquid crystal displays. In December 2008, a subsidiary in Japan received a cease and desist order from the Fair Trade Commission of Japan while it has not received a surcharge payment order. The investigation by the European Commission and the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice is ongoing. The Japanese subsidiary accrued the reasonably estimated amount for the loss which may be incurred in relation to the investigation by the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice.

In June 2007, the Company received requests for information from the European Commission in respect of alleged antitrust violations relating to dynamic random access memories.

In September 2007, a subsidiary and an affiliate of the Company in the U.S. received requests for information from the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice in respect of alleged antitrust violations relating to flash memories.

In November 2007, a subsidiary of the Company in the U.S. received requests for information from the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice in respect of alleged antitrust violations relating to cathode ray tubes. In addition, in November 2007, two subsidiaries in Asia and in Europe received requests for information from the European Commission. Furthermore, in November 2007, a subsidiary in Canada received requests for information from the Canadian Competition Bureau.

In December 2008, the Company received requests for information from the European Commission in respect of alleged antitrust violations relating to power transformers.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

December 31, 2008

The Company and these companies do not concede the alleged antitrust violations, but depending upon the outcome of these investigations, fines or surcharge payments, the amount of which is uncertain, may be imposed on them. In addition, subsequent to these actions by the competent authorities, a number of class action lawsuits have been filed against the Company and some of these companies in the U.S. and Canada.

Depending upon the outcome of the above legal proceedings, there may be an adverse effect on the consolidated financial position or results of operations. Currently the Company is unable to estimate the adverse effect, if any. Accordingly, no accrual for potential loss has been made.

In addition to the above, the Company and certain subsidiaries are subject to several legal proceedings and claims which have arisen in the ordinary course of business and have not been finally adjudicated. These actions when ultimately concluded and determined will not, in the opinion of management, have a material adverse effect on the consolidated financial position or results of operations of the Company and subsidiaries.

(12) Impairment Losses for Long-Lived Assets

For the nine months ended December 31, 2008, the majority of the impairment losses were recorded on long-lived property, plant and equipment located in Japan and the U.S. The Digital Media & Consumer Products division recognized a loss of ¥45,305 million, primarily in its plasma TV business, due to the decision to switch the source for glass panel components from in-house manufacturing to an outside supplier and patents with lower-than-expected future license income, and also in a specific type of electronic parts that was projected to have lower production because of smaller demand in the market. The Information & Telecommunication Systems division recognized a loss of ¥6,551 million primarily due to a decline in the expected selling price of certain assets held for sale caused by a deterioration of the real estate market and a decline of the estimated recoverable value because of a bankruptcy of a certain customer. The fair value estimates used to determine these losses were based primarily on discounted future cash flows.

For the three months ended December 31, 2008, the majority of the impairment losses were recorded on long-lived property, plant and equipment located in Japan and the U.S. The Information & Telecommunication Systems division recognized a loss of ¥3,911 million primarily due to a decline in the expected selling price of certain assets held for sale caused by a deterioration of the real estate market. The Digital Media & Consumer Products division recognized a loss of ¥3,884 million primarily due to a specific type of electronic parts that was projected to have lower production because of smaller demand in the market. The fair value estimates used to determine these losses were based primarily on discounted future cash flows.

(17) Subsequent Events

On January 14, 2009, the Company announced its decision to purchase additional shares of Hitachi Kokusai Electric Inc. (Hitachi Kokusai Electric), an equity method affiliate, through a tender offer to make Hitachi Kokusai Electric its subsidiary for the purpose of establishing a stable equity-based relationship and strengthening cooperative relationship in fields of communications and video, and broadcasting system businesses. Hitachi Kokusai Electric's Board of Directors resolved to approve the tender offer at the meeting held on the same day. The Company currently holds 37.98% of Hitachi Kokusai Electric's shares, including indirect shareholdings. The duration of the tender offer is from January 26, 2009 to March 9, 2009. Due to the fact that the plans call for Hitachi Kokusai Electric to remain listed even after completion of the tender offer, the Company has set 13,406,000 shares as the upper limit for the number of purchasing shares. In the event that the total number of tendered shares is less than or equal to the planned maximum number of shares to be purchased, the Company will purchase all the shares tendered in the tender offer. If the total number of tendered shares exceeds the planned maximum number of shares to be purchased, the Company will not purchase the excess in whole or in part. The price of the tender offer is ¥780 per share, which was determined by comprehensively taking into consideration the market price of Hitachi Kokusai Electric's common stock, Hitachi Kokusai Electric's financial condition, future earnings prospects and a valuation of the estimated value of Hitachi Kokusai Electric stock conducted by a third party appraiser, and included a premium of approximately 77% over the average share price of Hitachi Kokusai Electric's common stock traded on the First Section of the Tokyo Stock Exchange for three month period ended January 13, 2009.

On January 14, 2009, the Company also announced its decision to purchase additional shares of Hitachi Koki Co., Ltd. (Hitachi Koki), an equity method affiliate, through a tender offer to make Hitachi Koki its subsidiary for the purpose of establishing a stable equity-based relationship and strengthening cooperative relationship in business expansion on a global scale and research and development into lithium-ion battery-operated products. Hitachi Koki's Board of Directors resolved to approve the tender offer at the meeting held on the same day. The Company currently holds 32.05% of Hitachi Koki's shares, including indirect shareholdings. The duration of the tender offer is from January 26, 2009 to March 9, 2009. Due to the fact that the plans call for Hitachi Koki to remain listed even after completion of the tender offer, the Company has set 12,473,000 shares as the upper limit for the number of purchasing shares. In the event that the total number of tendered shares is less than or equal to the planned maximum number of shares to be purchased, the Company will purchase all the shares tendered in the tender offer. If the total number of tendered shares exceeds the planned maximum number of shares to be purchased, the Company will not purchase the excess in whole or in part. The price of the tender offer is ¥1,300 per share, which was determined by comprehensively taking into consideration the market price of Hitachi Koki's common stock, Hitachi Koki's financial condition, future earnings prospects and a valuation of the estimated value of Hitachi Koki stock conducted by a third party appraiser, and included a premium of approximately 77% over the average share price of Hitachi Koki's common stock traded on the First Section of the Tokyo Stock Exchange for three month period ended January 13, 2009.

Hitachi Submits Amendment Statement for Tender Offer Registration Statement Relating to Hitachi Kokusai Electric Shares, Extends Tender Offer Period and Amends Public Notice of Commencement of Tender Offer

Tokyo, February 25, 2009 Hitachi, Ltd. (NYSE:HIT / TSE:6501) today announced that it has submitted to the Kanto Local Finance Bureau an Amendment Statement for Tender Offer Registration Statement in relation to the January 14 announcement of its intention to purchase additional common stocks of Hitachi Kokusai Electric Inc. (TSE:6756) by way of a public tender offer (hereinafter "Tender Offer"). The Amendment Statement was submitted to the Kanto Local Finance Bureau pursuant to Article 27-8, Paragraph 2 of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Law of Japan. Due to this submission of the Amendment Statement, in accordance with Article 27-8, Paragraph 8 of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Law of Japan, the duration of the Tender Offer (hereinafter "Tender Offer Period") is extended and the Public Notice of the Tender Offer dated January 26, 2009 is amended.

The public notice (the public notice was made electronically (<http://info.edinet-fsa.go.jp/>)) was made today regarding the extension of the Tender Offer Period and a notice will be published in the Nihon Keizai Shimbun without delay.

I. Contents of the Amendment Statement and Extension of the Tender Offer Period

Hitachi and Hitachi Kokusai Electric have cooperated in Hitachi's information network business, and the Social Infrastructure Business and the Life Infrastructure Business in areas such as transport systems, urban systems and other businesses, where Hitachi has utilized Hitachi Kokusai Electric's digital wireless communications systems for business use, video monitoring systems, and base stations for communications operators, among other technologies. For example, on February 23, 2009, Hitachi Kokusai Electric unveiled the successor model to wireless base station equipment, achieved by their joint development. The two companies will cooperate in developing new products and announce those products. Moreover, in an attempt to strengthen their business cooperation, Hitachi and Hitachi Kokusai Electric will bolster collaboration in the network-based security video surveillance system business, announced in the news release "Hitachi and Hitachi Kokusai Electric to Bolster Collaboration in the Network-based Security Video Surveillance System Business" of February 19, 2009. In line with their greater cooperation, Hitachi Kokusai Electric and Hitachi announced new products with standardized communications protocols on February 20, 2009 and February 23, 2009, respectively. As a result, amendment shall be made to I. Terms and Conditions of the Tender Offer 3. Purpose of the Tender Offer and IV. Agreement Between the Tender Offeror and the Target 2. Agreement Between the Tender Offeror and the Target and/or Its Directors in the Registration Statement. Hitachi submitted the Amendment Statement and extended the last date of the Tender Offer Period to March 11, 2009.

3. [Purpose of the Tender Offer]

(Before the Amendment)

(1) Outline of the Tender Offer
(Omitted)

(2) Rationale and Background to the Tender Offer, Management Policy After the Tender Offer
(Omitted)

Hitachi and Hitachi Kokusai Electric have cooperated in Hitachi's information network business, and the Social Infrastructure Business and the Life Infrastructure Business in areas such as transport systems, urban systems and other businesses, where Hitachi has utilized Hitachi Kokusai Electric's digital wireless communications systems for business use, video monitoring systems, and base stations for communications operators, among other technologies. Looking ahead, the two companies believe it is necessary to strengthen cooperation to capture more synergies in order to raise corporate value.

(Omitted)

Greater cooperation than in the past between the two companies will harness the business resources of both entities as well as those of the Hitachi Group in all manner of fields. This higher level of cooperation promises to spur the development of both Hitachi and Hitachi Kokusai Electric. Areas where benefits are expected include utilization of the Hitachi Group's reinforced quad-polar operating framework in the Americas, Europe, Asia and China; cooperation in R&D; application of the Hitachi Group's broad portfolio of intellectual property rights through cross-licensing agreements and other means; cooperation in terms of finance; utilization of various expertise in areas such as business development, human resources and systems; use of the latest information; and cooperation in nurturing the Hitachi brand globally.

Hitachi Kokusai Electric will maintain its public listing, as Hitachi believes that retaining management autonomy as a listed company while strengthening the relationship between the two companies is an effective way of raising the corporate value of both. Therefore, Hitachi has no plans to make significant changes to Hitachi Kokusai Electric's capital policies after the Tender Offer. Moreover, no significant changes are planned for the composition of Hitachi Kokusai Electric's Board of Directors, management policy or businesses. Hitachi plans to continuously hold Hitachi Kokusai Electric's shares, including shares purchased through the Tender Offer.

(5) Agreement Regarding Tender Offer

As per (1) above, according to the statement announced by Hitachi Kokusai Electric on January 14, 2009, Hitachi Kokusai Electric Board of Directors resolved to approve the Tender Offer at its meeting held on the same day.

According to the statement above, Hitachi Kokusai Electric Board members Messrs. Shungo Dazai and Yoshiki Yagi did not participate in any discussions or resolutions concerning the Tender Offer, including the aforementioned acceptance of the Tender Offer, to avoid a conflict of interest due to their capacity and backgrounds; Mr. Dazai concurrently serves as a director of Hitachi and has a special interest, while Mr. Yagi was formerly Hitachi's director and is presently a senior advisor emeritus to Hitachi. Moreover, these two individuals did not take part in discussions and negotiations with the Tender Offeror from the standpoint of Hitachi Kokusai Electric.

Moreover, in an attempt to strengthen their business cooperation, Hitachi and Hitachi Kokusai Electric will bolster collaboration in the network-based security video surveillance system business, announced in the news release "Hitachi and Hitachi Kokusai Electric to Bolster Collaboration in the Network-based Security Video Surveillance System Business" of February 19, 2009. In recent years, rising public awareness of the need for greater security has spawned many more opportunities to deploy surveillance systems in a myriad of contexts. In particular, the market for network-based surveillance cameras is expanding rapidly worldwide, as these systems offer outstanding features in terms of facilitating the remote operation of security cameras and offering easy scalability when adding search screens and security cameras. Hitachi and Hitachi Kokusai Electric command a high share of the Japanese markets for network-based surveillance cameras. The two companies are leveraging their respective system-building strengths to develop a surveillance system business that makes use of security cameras. Both companies will bolster collaboration in the network-based security surveillance systems business as one initiative in strengthening collaboration across their businesses. Specifically, the two companies will standardize the communications protocols of their respective security devices such as network-based security cameras and recorders. This standardization will facilitate the creation of network-based security video surveillance systems that satisfy many different customer needs. Both companies will also consider the standardization of certain components, while working to reinforce cost competitiveness primarily by jointly purchasing components and utilizing one another's procurement channels. Furthermore, future collaboration will cover the development of high-value-added systems that make use of cutting-edge technologies. Examples include the development of software that enables both companies' surveillance system devices for room access control and other systems to be easily interconnected, as well as human tracking systems using video recognition technology. Hitachi Kokusai Electric and Hitachi announced new products with standardized communications protocols on February 20, 2009 and February 23, 2009, respectively.

Hitachi Kokusai Electric will maintain its public listing, as Hitachi believes that retaining management autonomy as a listed company while strengthening the relationship between the two companies is an effective way of raising the corporate value of both. Therefore, Hitachi has no plans to make significant changes to Hitachi Kokusai Electric's capital policies after the Tender Offer. II. Amendment of the Public Notice of Commencement of the Tender Offer

Amendment of the Public Notice of Commencement of the Tender Offer is as follows. Amendment parts are underlined.

1. Purpose of the Tender Offer

(2) Rationale and Background to the Tender Offer, Management Policy After the Tender Offer
(Before the Amendment)

(Omitted)

Hitachi and Hitachi Kokusai Electric have cooperated in Hitachi's information network business, and the Social Infrastructure Business and the Life Infrastructure Business in areas such as transport systems, urban systems and other businesses, where Hitachi has utilized Hitachi Kokusai Electric's digital wireless communications systems for business use, video monitoring systems, and base stations for communications operators, among other technologies. Looking ahead, the two companies believe it is necessary to strengthen cooperation to capture more synergies in order to raise corporate value.

(Omitted)

Greater cooperation than in the past between the two companies will harness the business resources of both entities as well as those of the Hitachi Group in all manner of fields. This higher level of cooperation promises to spur the development of both Hitachi and Hitachi Kokusai Electric. Areas where benefits are expected include utilization of the Hitachi Group's reinforced quad-polar operating framework in the Americas, Europe, Asia and China; cooperation in R&D; application of the Hitachi Group's broad portfolio of intellectual property rights through cross-licensing agreements and other means; cooperation in terms of finance; utilization of various expertise in areas such as business development, human resources and systems; use of the latest information; and cooperation in nurturing the Hitachi brand globally.

Hitachi Kokusai Electric will maintain its public listing, as Hitachi believes that retaining management autonomy as a listed company while strengthening the relationship between the two companies is an effective way of raising the corporate value of both. Therefore, Hitachi has no plans to make significant changes to Hitachi Kokusai Electric's capital policies after the Tender Offer. Moreover, no significant changes are planned for the composition of Hitachi Kokusai Electric's Board of Directors, management policy or businesses. Hitachi plans to continuously hold Hitachi Kokusai Electric's shares, including shares purchased through the Tender Offer.

(Omitted)

Hitachi and Hitachi Kokusai Electric have cooperated in Hitachi's information network business, and the Social Infrastructure Business and the Life Infrastructure Business in areas such as transport systems, urban systems and other businesses, where Hitachi has utilized Hitachi Kokusai Electric's digital wireless communications systems for business use, video monitoring systems, and base stations for communications operators, among other technologies. For example, on February 23, 2009, Hitachi Kokusai Electric unveiled the successor model to wireless base station equipment, achieved by their joint development. Looking ahead, while the two companies will cooperate in developing new products and announce those products, they believe it is necessary to strengthen cooperation to capture more synergies in order to raise corporate value.

Moreover, in an attempt to strengthen their business cooperation, Hitachi and Hitachi Kokusai Electric will bolster collaboration in the network-based security video surveillance system business, announced in the news release "Hitachi and Hitachi Kokusai Electric to Bolster Collaboration in the Network-based Security Video Surveillance System Business" of February 19, 2009. In recent years, rising public awareness of the need for greater security has spawned many more opportunities to deploy surveillance systems in a myriad of contexts. In particular, the market for network-based surveillance cameras is expanding rapidly worldwide, as these systems offer outstanding features in terms of facilitating the remote operation of security cameras and offering easy scalability when adding search screens and security cameras. Hitachi and Hitachi Kokusai Electric command a high share of the Japanese markets for network-based surveillance cameras. The two companies are leveraging their respective system-building strengths to develop a surveillance system business that makes use of security cameras. Both companies will bolster collaboration in the network-based security surveillance systems business as one initiative in strengthening collaboration across their businesses. Specifically, the two companies will standardize the communications protocols of their respective security devices such as network-based security cameras and recorders. This standardization will facilitate the creation of network-based security video surveillance systems that satisfy many different customer needs. Both companies will also consider the standardization of certain components, while working to reinforce cost competitiveness primarily by jointly purchasing components and utilizing one another's procurement channels. Furthermore, future collaboration will cover the development of high-value-added systems that make use of cutting-edge technologies. Examples include the development of software that enables both companies' surveillance system devices for room access control and other systems to be easily interconnected, as well as human tracking systems using video recognition technology. Hitachi Kokusai Electric and Hitachi announced new products with standardized communications protocols on February 20, 2009 and February 23, 2009, respectively.

Cautionary Statement

Certain statements found in this document may constitute forward-looking statements as defined in the U.S. Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Such forward-looking statements reflect management's current views with respect to certain future events and financial performance and include any statement that does not directly relate to any historical or current fact. Words such as anticipate, believe, expect, estimate, forecast, intend, plan, project and similar expressions which indicate future events and trends may identify forward-looking statements. Such statements are based on currently available information and are subject to various risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those projected or implied in the forward-looking statements and from historical trends. Certain forward-looking statements are based upon current assumptions of future events which may not prove to be accurate. Undue reliance should not be placed on forward-looking statements, as such statements speak only as of the date of this document.

Factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those projected or implied in any forward-looking statement and from historical trends include, but are not limited to:

increased commoditization of information technology products and digital media related products and intensifying price competition for such products, particularly in the Information & Telecommunication Systems segment, Electronic Devices segment and Digital Media & Consumer Products segment;

fluctuations in product demand and industry capacity, particularly in the Information & Telecommunication Systems segment, Electronic Devices segment and Digital Media & Consumer Products segment;

uncertainty as to Hitachi's ability to continue to develop and market products that incorporate new technology on a timely and cost-effective basis and to achieve market acceptance for such products;

rapid technological innovation, particularly in the Information & Telecommunication Systems segment, Electronic Devices segment and Digital Media & Consumer Products segment;

exchange rate fluctuation for the yen and other currencies in which Hitachi makes significant sales or in which Hitachi's assets and liabilities are denominated, particularly against the U.S. dollar and the euro;

increases in the price of raw materials including, without limitation, petroleum and other materials, such as copper, steel, aluminum and synthetic resins;

uncertainty as to Hitachi's ability to implement measures to reduce the potential negative impact of fluctuations in product demand, exchange rate fluctuation and/or increases in the price of raw materials;

general socio-economic and political conditions and the regulatory and trade environment of Hitachi's major markets, particularly Japan, Asia, the United States and Europe, including, without limitation, a return to stagnation or a deterioration of the Japanese economy, direct or indirect restrictions by other nations on imports, or differences in commercial and business customs including, without limitation, contract terms and conditions and labor relations;

uncertainty as to Hitachi's access to, or ability to protect, certain intellectual property rights, particularly those related to electronics and data processing technologies;

uncertainty as to the outcome of litigation, regulatory investigations and other legal proceedings of which the Company, its subsidiaries or its equity method affiliates have become or may become parties;

the possibility of incurring expenses resulting from any defects in products or services of Hitachi;
