Stronger rand - lower earnings

Profits were again adversely affected by the stronger rand and margin pressures in a challenging international trading environment. From an operational perspective, most of Sasol's businesses performed satisfactorily with several production records and productivity improvements being achieved.

The average exchange rate during the financial year of R6,88 : US$1,00 was 24% stronger than the previous year. Including the effect of lower translation losses at the end of the period (R1,0 billion versus R1,7 billion), the net adverse impact on operating profit of the strong rand amounted to about R6,0 billion. The associated impact on attributable earnings was R4,2 billion or about 686 cents per share.

Higher average international oil prices (dated Brent US$31,30 versus US$27,83) and the benefit of cost reductions and productivity improvements partly offset the drastic impact of the stronger rand. Attributable earnings per share of 974 cents was 24% lower than earnings of the previous comparable reporting period. Headline earnings per share of 934 cents was 27% lower. In US dollar terms, attributable earnings per share of 142 cents was equal to the comparable result of the previous reporting period.

It was anticipated when the first half-year results were announced that the attributable earnings of the second half of the financial year would be much better than the first half. Attributable earnings in the second half was 39% higher than the first half, and 16% higher than the comparable second half of the previous financial year.

During the year, impairment charges of R342 million were partially offset by net profits of R207 million achieved on disposal of assets, relating mainly to non-performing or non-core activities in the chemicals portfolio. This was further offset by a gain of R108 million realised on the dilution of our interest in Sasol Oil in terms of the consideration paid by way of shares for our purchase of Exel Petroleum. Provisions relating to environmental rehabilitation and likely retrenchment costs amounting to R138 million were made in Sasol Nitro.

Capital expenditure on property, plant and equipment amounted to R10,9 billion. The main projects advanced or completed were:

the Mozambique Natural Gas project - gas reached Secunda and Sasolburg through the 865 kilometre pipeline from Mozambique, in February and June 2004, respectively;

Project Turbo - the fuels enhancement and polymers expansion project which is scheduled for commissioning as from the last quarter of 2005; the GTL fuels projects - in Qatar, which is scheduled for start-up during the first quarter of 2006, and in Nigeria where the engineering bids are presently being evaluated;

the Arya Sasol Polymers joint venture to build a world-scale ethane cracker and polyethylene plants in Iran, which are scheduled for commissioning from the fourth quarter of 2005; and the acrylic acid project at Sasolburg which was commissioned during the first quarter of 2004.

At 30 June 2004, gearing (net debt as a percentage of shareholders' equity) was 41% which was within the company's targeted range of 30% to 50%.

The total dividend declared for the year of R4,50 is equivalent to that of the previous reporting period and reflects a dividend cover of 2,2.

Operating profit of R9 314 million was 22% below the comparable result of the previous year. The contribution of the major businesses is summarised as follows:

Sasol Mining

The operating profit of Sasol Mining of R1 177 million was slightly lower than the previous year. The benefit of higher export coal prices was more than offset by the adverse impact of the stronger rand. Coal production was higher mainly because of increased demand from Sasol Synfuels. Continuous miner productivity improved by 4% and unit cash cost per ton mined was again well controlled and equal to the previous year.

Sasol Synfuels

The operating profit of Sasol Synfuels of R5 515 million was severely impacted by adverse currency effects, partly offset by the benefit of higher oil prices. Output increased by about 5% partly because of improved operational stability resulting from natural gas from Mozambique being introduced to supplement synthesis gas feed. After some years of rand cash costs per unit of production increasing, new initiatives resulted in these costs reducing on a year-on-year basis by about 3%.

Sasol Liquid Fuels Business

The benefit of high oil prices was offset by the adverse effect of the stronger rand. The operating profit of R1 429 million was only slightly higher than the previous financial year. New supply arrangements to replace the Main Supply Agreements that expired at the end of 2003 were put into place with the other oil companies. The roll-out of the new Sasol retail network progressed according to plan.

Sasol Gas

The operating profit of Sasol Gas reduced by 14% to R387 million. While sales were satisfactory, once-off costs were incurred in changing the gas supply networks to customers from hydrogen-rich gas to natural gas piped from Mozambique.

Sasol Synfuels International

The roll-out of the GTL fuels strategy continued during the year. Start-up of our first facility in Qatar is expected during the first quarter of 2006. The operating loss of R138 million is less than the previous year mainly because of a reduction in overhead costs.

Sasol Olefins and Surfactants

The poor performance of the alkylates and monomers business seriously impacted the division and an operating loss of R46 million was incurred. The alkylates business again could not fully recover the increased cost of oil-derivative feedstocks which reached unprecedented levels in the year. The monomers business, which is primarily South Africa-based, was adversely affected by the strong rand and also incurred an operating loss. The other businesses in the division performed satisfactorily.

Sasol Polymers

The operating profit of R971 million was 9% higher than the previous reporting period. The benefits of higher international polymer prices, productivity improvements and the better performance of the division's Malaysian investments were mostly offset by the adverse effects of the stronger rand.

Sasol Solvents

Primarily because of its significant exports, the division's performance was materially affected by adverse currency effects and operating profit dropped by 69% to R135 million. Excluding currency effects, the division's performance in US dollar terms met expectations. The new acrylates complex at Sasolburg was successfully commissioned during the year.

Other

The significant reduction in the operating profit of this segment was mainly due to effects of the stronger rand, as well as environmental rehabilitation and retrenchment expenses provided for in Sasol Nitro.

Profit outlook

It is likely that the momentum of the improvement achieved in the second half of the financial year ended 30 June 2004 will continue and a material increase in earnings in the new financial year is probable, although our performance will remain sensitive and vulnerable to the volatility of currencies, oil prices and chemical margins. This profit outlook has not been reviewed by our auditors.

Basis of preparation and accounting policies

The group's condensed consolidated financial statements for the year ended 30 June 2004 have been prepared in compliance with the Listings Requirements of the JSE Securities Exchange South Africa, International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) and the South African Companies Act, 1973, as amended.

The accounting policies applied are consistent with those applied in the previous year and have been prepared in accordance with the historic cost convention except for certain financial instruments which are stated at fair value. The principal reporting currency of the Sasol group is rand. This currency reflects the economic substance of the underlying events and circumstances of the group. US$ figures are presented for the balance sheet and income statement for convenience purposes only.

Financial statements in accordance with US GAAP will be included in the Annual Report under Form 20-F filed under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 which will be distributed to holders of American Depositary Receipts by the end of October 2004.

Related party transactions

The group, in the ordinary course of business, enters into various sale and purchase transactions on an arm's length basis at market rates with related parties.

Significant acquisitions and disposals of businesses

Subsidiaries:

With effect from 1 July 2003 Sasol Italy S.p.A. acquired the remaining 48% shares in G.D. Portbury Limited (Dubai) trading as Sasol Gulf.

With effect from 1 January 2004 Sasol acquired the remaining 77,5% of Naledi Petroleum Holdings (Pty) Limited, the holding company of Exel Petroleum (Pty) Limited. The purchase price was settled by the issue of 22 shares in Sasol Oil (Pty) Limited (representing 2% of the issued shares of the company) to some of the previous shareholders of Naledi Petroleum Holdings (Pty) Limited and a cash consideration.

On 30 June 2004, Sasol Chemie GmbH and Co KG disposed of its interest in Sasol Servo B.V. Joint ventures:

With effect from 1 November 2003 Sasol acquired a 50% interest in Sasol Huntsman GmbH & Co KG. This transaction formed part of the original acquisition of the Sasol Chemie business from RWE-DEA.

Sasol Investment Company (Pty) Ltd sold its 50% interest in Sasol Roche Blasting Services Pty Ltd to Roche Mining Pty Ltd effective February 2004.

Post-balance sheet date events

During April 2004, 30 000 barrels of crude oil a day (being approximately 20% of Synfuels volume production) was sold forward for the period June 2004 to May 2005 at a weighted average price of US$31,85/bbl by way of over-the-counter (OTC) Brent crude oil swaps. Subsequent to year-end, the hedge was extended by a further 15 000 barrels a day for the period August 2004 to May 2005. The total hedging activity amounts to 45 000 barrels a day (equivalent to approximately 30% of Synfuels' production) at a weighted average Brent crude oil price of US$33,12/bbl.

Further to the cautionary announcement below, it is envisaged that the new liquid fuels business will be effected by way of a joint venture in which Sasol and Petroleum Nasional Berhad (Petronas) will Audited group results and declaration of dividend number 50 of Sasol Limited for the year ended 30 June 2004 each have an equal 37,5 percent interest and in which Black Economic Empowerment (BEE) partners (both existing and new) will hold a combined 25 percent interest.

The parties plan to conclude definitive agreements concerning the joint venture during the last quarter of 2004. A further announcement will be made at the conclusion of this process. Definitive agreements will be subject to regulatory approval which it is hoped will be completed during the first quarter of 2005.

On 1 September 2004, an explosion at the Sasol Polymers' ethylene plant in Secunda occurred for which we again express our sympathy to those affected. This will not affect fuel production although polymers production will be affected in the short-term. The incident is being investigated and further information will be issued once it becomes available.

Cautionary announcement

Further to the cautionary announcement dated 19 February 2004 by Sasol and Petronas concerning the proposed combination of their respective interests in Sasol's liquid fuels business and Engen in a joint venture to create a leading South African liquid fuels business, Sasol shareholders are advised that the parties are still involved in negotiations which, if successfully concluded, may have a material effect on the price of Sasol's securities.

Shareholders are accordingly advised to continue exercising caution when dealing in Sasol securities until a full announcement is made.

Forward-looking statements:

In this report we make certain statements that are not historical facts and relate to analyses and other information based on forecasts of future results not yet determinable, relating, amongst other things, to exchange rate fluctuations, volume growth, increases in market share, total shareholder return and cost reductions. These are forward-looking statements as defined in the United States Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Words such as "believe", "anticipate", "intend", "seek", "will", "plan", "could", "may", "endeavour" and "project" and similar expressions are intended to identify such forward-looking statements, but are not the exclusive means of identifying such statements. Forward-looking statements involve inherent risks and uncertainties and, if one or more of these risks materialise, or should underlying assumptions prove incorrect, actual results may be very different from those anticipated. The factors that could cause our actual results to differ materially from such forward-looking statements are discussed more fully in our most recent annual report under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 on Form 20-F filed on 27 October 2003 and in other filings with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission.
