Clarifications on Investments at Petrobras

(Rio de Janeiro, December 8, 2008). PETRÓLEO BRASILEIRO S/A - PETROBRAS, [Bovespa: PETR3/PETR4, NYSE: PBR/PBRA, Latibex: XPBR/XPBRA, BCBA: APBR/APBRA], a Brazilian international energy company, concerning news published by the press, clarifies that seeking the most varied sources of funding, whether internal or external, is inherent to the Company's management and part of its operating process.

Throughout its history, Petrobras has faced adverse conditions, a fact which did not prevent it from developing its long-term growth strategies. In spite of the international financial crisis, the Company was able to raise $7.5 billion in funds in 2008 to finance its investments.

In the 1990's and early 2000's, when oil prices were much lower than they are now, and when the Company was not rated as investment grade, a fact that limited traditional external funding offers, the company was able to develop new forms of fund raising to finance its business plan.

Petrobras' funding decisions have always been and will always be based on the best conditions presented. As has been widely announced, the Company is revising its business Plan. Thus far, there has been no deliberation by the Company's Executive Board or by its Board of Directors regarding the issue. As soon as it is approved, Petrobras will announce its new Business Plan to the market.
